CHRIST CHURCH AND THE GREAT WAR

There were three reasons for me writing this piece. The first was a radio broadcast; the second a centenary of a WWI action; and the third will be happening this Autumn. All have echoes in Christ Church history, in one way or another.

I'll take them one by one. The radio broadcast was the Sunday Service on Sunday morning 27th December which concerned itself with the establishment of an organisation known as Talbot House. ToCh as it became to be known from its Army parlance during WWI, was a soldiers' rest and recreation centre founded by Rev Philip (Tubby) Clayton in Poperinghe, Belgium, in December 1915. The organisation which grew from that still exists today, although in greatly changed form; now dedicated to 'understanding and reconciliation'. After WWII a new Christ Church vicar, Dudley Benbow, who had served as a chaplain in that conflict, became padre of the Gravesend branch, and a small cross remembering that stands in the Warriors' Chapel. This turn of the year is also the centenary of the withdrawal from the Dardenelles - known usually as Gallipoli - that dreadfully botched campaign which took place in a part of the world known by few people in Britain. Thousands of men, British, Australian and New Zealand forces among them, perished in the most horrific circumstances: many from battle, far too many from disease. Among them, dying on Christmas Eve 1915 during the awful weather of that winter, was a 19-year old John Betts. His mother lived in Clarence Street, a road now under the Parrock Street car park. I mention him in my book 'Mrs Finch: Church Caretaker'.

Marian had an uncle who was a casualty at Gallipoli. Her Uncle Will Barnes was serving in the Royal Army Medical Corps. He had been wounded and was being evacuated by small boat to a hospital ship some distance of shore and as a result of exposure spent the rest of life - over thirty years - in a wheelchair. His photograph was taken in March 1949, proudly wearing his medals, during a Royal Visit to Preston of the then Princess Elizabeth (now HM the Queen).

The third event will take place next Autumn. In 1920 a church meeting accepted a proposal that that there should be some form of commemoration consisting 'of a panel listing those men of the parish who have made the supreme sacrifice and the Memorial in the church should take the form of a chapel in the East End of the church where the present small gallery is behind the Choir.' The Warriors' Chapel was duly erected and dedicated in 1922. The panel had a short life, for thirteen years later the church was moved from Parrock Road, where it had stood for over eighty years, and re-erected in Old Road East. During that move the panel was badly damaged, and not replaced., although details of the names remained in the church archives. In Autumn 2016 there will be a rededication service, at present being planned, for a replacement panel.

FIRST STEPS

13TH JANUARY 2016

JESUS' BAPTISM

It may be 13th January but it's lucky for us because today is our First Steps service. Our naughty little sheep is very happy and excited, especially as it is a lovely sunny, chilly winter's day. When everyone is ready, he, his many friends and I make our way up to church. Once in they all make themselves comfortable as I get bits ready for our service. Jan and Linda soon arrive to help, too. Then we open the doors and wait for our First Steps friends to arrive. First in is C T and his little boy Callum. It's their first visit and we are all really pleased to see them. But they aren't on their own for very long and soon we have our usual lovely noisy crowd, testing out the jingle bells and making sure that they still work.

Our theme today is Jesus' Baptism and we all go to the back of the church to see our lovely font. We hear that Jesus wasn't baptised in a font like ours but in the River Jordan and what's more he wasn't a baby but a grown up man. John the Baptist, who baptised him, made him go right under the water so that he got very wet, indeed! I can see that our naughty little sheep and his friends are all very surprised at that. And when Jesus came up out of the water the heavens opened above his head and God's voice was heard, saying that Jesus was His beloved Son and He was very pleased with him. The Holy Spirit hovered over Jesus' head in the form of a beautiful white dove. And everyone has a chance to look up under the beautiful painted hood of our font to see the picture of a white dove against a clear blue sky. Isn't that wonderful?

Then everyone goes back to their seats and our naughty little sheep and the glittery dragon climb carefully up onto our little altar. We light the candles and with jingle bells at the ready we sing some of our favourite songs about the people we love; about Jesus our friend; about his love for us and the wonder of God's love, too. There is some excellent singing and some lovely bell jingling. Our naughty little sheep and his friends are very pleased to see that Callum seems to be enjoying his visit to First Steps and they hope that he and his dad will come and join us again. We thank God for coming alongside us in Jesus and we remember how special his baptism was for him. It was the beginning of his ministry. Baptism is very special for us too, because it is when we begin our journey of faith, as part of Jesus' family and the Holy Spirit goes with us, too.

Everybody is very good and quiet for our prayers and then our service is over and it is time to make our way into the hall for a cuppa, a munch and time to chat and play. Our naughty little sheep and his friends rush out to get to the front of the queue. They've all been singing and jiggling in time to the music and they are very much in need of refreshment, or so they tell me! They do so love being part of it all and seeing everyone having a good time together. They hope that everyone will join us again for our next First Steps service on 10th February. It will be Ash Wednesday, the beginning of Lent as we begin to prepare for Easter. Doesn't the time just fly?

God Bless,
Rosemary Austin

"We have grown- We have moved" Christ Church Mothers' Union has had to change time and venue of meetings as our membership has increased and meeting in members houses has become impractical. We now meet on the SECOND TUESDAY of the month in the CHURCH HALL. We have just started our new Programme for 2016 which contains a mixture of fun, social and serious events. Mothers' Union (MU) for short is a worldwide organisation open to everyone (male and female) who believes in the importance of Christian family life-is this you? Pick up a copy of our 2016 programme from the MU table at the back of the church, talk to a Mothers' Union member- there are a lot of us around or just simply come along to one of our meetings and give us a try. We would be delighted to see you.

This year's programme is printed on the page opposite

Chevalier de la Legion d'honneur

It is with sadness that we inform our congregation of the death of our long time church member who passed away on Tuesday 19 January. Cremation will take place at Medway Crematorium at 11.00 on Thursday 11 February followed by a service of Thanksgiving at 12.15 at Christ Church

WORKING PARTY

'In order to save on expensive cleaning and maintenance, we hold a monthly working party on a Saturday morning starting at 09.30.

Together we clean and tidy the church, do a bit of necessary DIY or gardening, have a coffee and often some home-made goodies – and finish by about 11.30.

We are enormously grateful to the few loyal helpers who turn up month after month – but we desperately need a few more.

Please consider putting the dates into your diary and coming along. All are welcome – if you can do basic DIY please let us know in advance so that the churchwardens can plan jobs in advance.

Working party is almost always on the second Saturday of each month...
NOTE the next one will be on 13 February at 9.30.

See you there, Sue

COPY FOR THE MAGAZINE

This is your magazine, and every effort is made to include items supplied by you, our readers.

The one thing that would be most helpful, when submitting copy, is that you e-mail this rather than put a typed sheet on the hook in church.

As I am not a touch typist, it takes considerable time to re-type any copy and is open to me making errors. Send copy to the address on page 2 by 20th of the month, or speak to Mike Cubitt - 07840343831

Church Urban Fund fasting for Lent

Congregations are being invited to take part in a new Church Urban Fund campaign encouraging people to take up a fasting challenge this Lent in solidarity with people who struggle to put food on the table.

The CUF Give it Up for Lent campaign is inviting congregations and individuals to take part in some form of fasting during the Lenten season including giving up a meal on Fridays or hosting a frugal lunch.

Youth groups are also being encouraged to consider the possibility of doing a 24-hour fast from breakfast on a Saturday and ending with a shared breakfast on Sunday morning before a main morning service in church.

The campaign aims to draw inspiration from the ancient Christian tradition of fasting during Lent with the money saved or raised donated to CUF's work tackling poverty and social exclusion in England.

The campaign by CUF, the Church of England's poverty charity, comes after joint research was published last year showing that two thirds, or 66%, of Church of England churches are involved in running food banks.

Support from churches includes collecting food, providing volunteers and offering premises as well as helping to manage the food banks, according to the joint study from the Church of England and CUF.

The cross-party Feeding Britain inquiry, co-chaired by the Bishop of Truro Tim Thornton, and updated in December has shown that the number of people relying on food parcels remains at a level previously unseen since the Second World War.

17% of Anglican churches are also involved in helping support the growth of credit unions, in many instances through the Church Credit Champions Network.

Paul Hackwood, executive chair of CUF, said:

“The Give it Up for Lent campaign is firmly rooted in the Christian tradition of prayer and fasting during the Lenten season as a way of drawing closer to God and preparing for Easter.

“We hope that congregations will use this opportunity to show solidarity with the poorest and most marginalised as well as raise money for those who struggle to put food on the table.”

Publication of pilot audits in safeguarding arrangements

The outcomes of four pilot independent audits into safeguarding arrangements in the Church of England have been published today.

The dioceses of Blackburn, Durham, Portsmouth and Salisbury all volunteered to be part of the House of Bishops commissioned project to take a look at current safeguarding practice. The audits will now be rolled out across all other Church of England dioceses during 2016/17.

The independent audits were carried out by The Social Care Institute for Excellence, SCIE, a charity and leading improvement support agency specialising in safeguarding. SCIE has pioneered a particular collaborative approach to conducting case reviews and audits in child and adult safeguarding called Learning Together focusing on the reasons why things go well, the cause of any problems and solutions.

The audit process in each diocese involved examination of safeguarding leadership arrangements, local policies and practice guidance, the quality of case work, recruitment and training. The auditors also looked at the progress being made in reaching nationally agreed standards informed by central House of Bishops approved policies.

Why people go to church

The answer has always been complex, as the following rhyme, found in an old Prayer book, and dated 1870 shows:

Some go to church just for a walk;
Some go to laugh, some to talk;
Some go there for speculation;
Some go there for observation;
Some go there to meet a friend;
Some the tedious hours to spend;

Some to learn the Parson's name
Some go there to wound his fame;
Some go there to meet a lover;
Some new fashions to discover;
Some go there to doze and nod;
But few go there to worship God

More over, we notice that the fashionable answer to this question changes with the generations

PEACE CANDLE IN REMEMBRANCE OF THOSE THAT WENT BEFORE

You may well have seen the 'Peace Candle' that was used at the WW1 commemoration service on 4th August, now in the sanctuary. The candle will remain in place throughout the 4 years of commemoration and will be lit at each Sunday and Wednesday service, as a reminder to us all to pray for peace in the many areas of conflict throughout the world. When you see the candle, please remember to pray for those caught up in conflict.

The sign near to the candle records the areas of conflict most in our prayers at any given time (though there are other 'hidden' conflicts that rarely appear on our televisions). If you would like an area of the world added to the list, please speak to Revs Sue or Jacqueline.

The Joy of the Gospel

New Lent study guide now available for churches and groups

Explained as a six-week study in sharing faith and written by Paula Gooder, this course is based on Pope Francis' much acclaimed reflections on mission and evangelism, Evangelii Gaudium, widely recognised as being full of realistic wisdom and infectious enthusiasm for reaching out to others.

The Joy of the Gospel will help parishes and Lent groups rediscover the joy of encountering Jesus and the transformation that occurs when his good news is communicated in the world today.

Each session includes prayer, a guided reflection on a Bible passage, and an opportunity to explore a key theme of sharing faith, such as working together, the role of the Holy Spirit, and the social justice dimension.

Paula Gooder is an internationally known writer, speaker, educator and broadcaster and is closely involved with Anglican - Roman Catholic relations at the international level.

You can order the study guide online at bit.ly/JoyGospel

Churches urged to work with local councils in celebration planning HMQ90

Churches have been encouraged to partner with their local council as they plan festivals, special services or exhibitions over the weekend of 11th and 12th June as part of the national celebration of Her Majesty The Queen's 90th Birthday.

Sir Tony Baldry, Chair of the Church Buildings Council said, 'The Church of England is a presence in every community, Her Majesty is the head of our Church and so it makes perfect sense that celebrations in the local church should be at the heart of wider community plans. This is a great opportunity for partnership between church and local government to pool resources and ideas to create really special events that will bring people of all faiths and none together to give thanks for the decades of service she has given us and to celebrate this special birthday.'

Councils have begun to advertise community celebrations on their websites and some have indicated that road closures will be possible for residents planning street parties.

Church of England schools are holding a competition to design a logo that churches will be able to use for their events which will be available to download from the Church Care website.

FROM RECENT EDITION OF “IN REVIEW”

Baptism Matters conferences for churches

Simple changes that can help families on their lifelong journey of faith when they bring a child to be baptised are to be discussed at a series of conferences for churches launched by the Archbishops' Council.

Clergy, licensed lay ministers and all those involved in family ministry are invited to consider taking part in one of five Baptism Matters conferences on what families expect when a child is baptised.

Conference participants will be able to discuss new resources that have been created following major research into parents' motivations, expectations and experiences when they bring a child for baptism and the experience of churches. Canon Sandra Millar, Archbishops' Council Head of Projects and Development, said: "More than two thousand families a week on average bring their child for baptism in the Church of England. "These conferences are a key opportunity for clergy, lay ministers and anyone in family ministry to examine new research and fresh insights into the motivations and hopes of these families and how we might help them further on their journey to discover the grace and fullness of God's love."

The day costs £50 plus VAT and for every two places booked a third place is free.

To see a list of the conferences and locations and to book a place see www.baptismmatters.org

MRS FINCH - Church Caretaker

Peter Shearan has published a book with the above title about a real-life lady who acted as church caretaker in Christ Church one hundred years ago. Her life began in 1835, when King William IV was on the British throne, and when stage coaches were a common sight passing through Gravesend; through the Great War; and only ended when she died at the age of 85, by which time she had witnessed many of the marvels of today's life (aeroplanes, motor cars and buses, and electric light to name only a few). Peter has woven the tale of what he has found to have been a remarkable woman around all the known facts: through doing so he has come to know her well (although he wishes he had known her personally!). His book is on sale now, price £10.

All proceeds from the sale will be going towards a planned commemoration of WWI in Autumn 2016.
