Summary of changes – Strand 1

No requirement for data to be presented

School leaders and teachers explain how the Christian vision underpins curriculum and assessment decisions and illustrate the positive impact that these decisions have on children and young people’s learning and development.

Spiritual development now to be considered as a separate entity

- A demonstrable feature of the school is the way in which it encourages its pupils to think globally about wider global society.

Do teachers share effective practice locally and regionally and engage in professional development? Does RE have in place rigorous and effective systems that enable teachers to know how and what pupils are learning in RE of assessment?

The school leader of RE has put in place systems that enable teachers to know what and how well pupils learn in RE. These, in turn, enable the creation of effective and ambitious curriculum plans.
How effective is RE teaching and learning in the school? How well do pupils make progress in RE as a result of a rich and engaging curriculum?

As a result of the rich and engaging RE curriculum, which reflects and takes account of up-to-date thinking and developments in the subject, RE teaching and learning is consistently graded good through regular school monitoring (verified at inspection). Based on the data available at the time of the inspection, considering context and recent cohorts, pupils make good progress against local expectations (KS1–3) and national averages for GCSE. As a result, pupils respond keenly, learning and progressing well. This includes pupils with SEND and the most able. As a priority, the school is enabling its vulnerable pupils, including those with learning difficulties, to flourish academically in their RE learning.

Flourish in their learning – not just academically

How has your RE curriculum been structured to show progression and depth of understanding, both vertically and horizontally? Mixed classes? Staff liaison?

What systems are in place to monitor RE teaching and learning?

How is RE assessed? How is this creative and innovative? How is it engaging pupils? How do you know that pupils are actively engaging with their RE learning?

Have staff accessed relevant CPD for RE?

Are staff sharing good practice of RE wider?
Excellence is likely to emerge from the coming together of three foundational principles.

- Deep, Christian-vision-driven thought and discussion
- Innovative, exemplary, and courageous action
- Life-changing, life-lasting transformational impact

A school should not try to prove their excellence, as an excellent school will simply ‘be’ excellent.
