John 6:40 NIV

For my Father's will is that everyone who looks to the Son and believes in him shall have eternal life, and I will raise them up at the last day."

What do we hear so often when we are out and about with friends? I do not want a lot in life but I really hope to be happy most of the time. We all understand that there are times when we will be sad, but we really do have a lot in our lives to be happy about, most of the time. When we are happy we tend to want something else in our lives, then when we achieve that goal we turn to something else yet again to enrich our lives. We must learn at some point that we can be content and happy with our lives as they are. Instead of looking for new things on and on we should look to God who's aim is to be with us and to care for us as we go along life's path. Therefore, this should be our aim also, to be with God more and more in our lives and we will learn to have contentment in our daily walk with God.

As children we learn to love Jesus, God's Son and as we mature it should turn into a much deeper level. We with our knowledge through the scriptures know that Jesus died for our sins and was resurrected to eternal life with his Father. Which is what our aim should be. Living in faith is not too hard to believe in God and give him your worries and he will lift them for you. As in today's jargon a trouble shared is a trouble halved. Now maybe that is flippant but I do not mean it to be. Personally I felt it was the answer as I would on praying be sharing troubles with our heavenly father so that he may take the strain out of all cares of today's world for us. Putting trust in God to travel the road with us and having true faith is the way to happiness knowing that you have the will of God always working in you and for you. Focus on God be true to him and not on worldly possessions then true happiness through faithfulness will be yours eternally.

Loving Father take our lives and help us to see your hand at work in our lives. Help us to do your will trusting you always bringing us ever closer to you Amen.
