The Rector writes:

One of the joys of my role is meeting people. Whether it is when I've been cycling or walking around the villages I'm Rector of, having unplanned conversations or meeting others to plan and discuss christenings, a wedding or a funeral service, and of course in many other situations. Pastoral care is at the heart of what a priest is called to do; being available to others in the joys and sadness's and everything in between that life brings. What's great is it isn't just down to me, it is team work! Being a Rector of 3 Parishes, this is impossible without others support. Members of my 3 congregations are also at the heart of this work. Revd Wendy Saunders, a retired priest, is part of my team. She lives in Felthorpe and many of you may know she is also on the Parish Council; she is happy to be contacted.

All of us as a community are called to this wonderful work of loving service to others, in our immediate neighbourhood and beyond. The pandemic over the past year has seen many people serve others they live near, whether it is the pharmacy run, shopping, phone calls, conversations over the garden fence etc.

On the 14 November we will also be remembering and giving thanks for those in our Armed Forces who have served the wider community, some with the ultimate sacrifice of giving their lives so that we now have freedom. It is a poignant year as the Royal British Legion is celebrating 100 years of support to former Armed Personnel and their families. Half of the donations given at our Service on Remembrance Sunday will be given to this charity with the other half going to Help for Heroes, a second charity whose focus on rehabilitation and support to those who have served is vital.

Lest We Forget.

"When I needed a neighbour, were you there?" starts a popular hymn; and ends "when you were hungry and thirsty I was there... and the creed and the colour and the name don't matter, I was there". Christians believe God is always there, and He is with all of our acts of loving kindness to others, whoever they are.
