

One runner just gets slower as they crawl along the ground they want to pass the baton on,
but there's no one around.

Another runner wobbles by with batons everywhere:
underneath their armpits,
some stuck in their hair, underneath their chin
and in between their knees, and only ever drop them
if they get chance to sneeze!
And when they pick them up again
from falling to the floor, they see a runner struggling,
so take one baton more!

Another baton, small and bright is passed from hand to hand, but the runners are so busy so all they do is stand.

I saw a struggle breakout when a runner, bright and new, tried to take the baton
but couldn't run on through.
The older runner kept right on with baton holding tight, because he was running left right left and she was right left right!

A tumble nearly happened when runners ran and found a pile of unused batons littering the ground.

But as I sat there watching a wonder met my eyes.
Someone from the streets
heard the runner's cries.
They never had run before
But held the runner's hand, and soon they shared the baton
as if it had been planned.

And soon it seemed that everyone was running fresh and bright and found that other runners we're warming up in sight.

But I could see a runner leaning on a tree.
I felt a bit excited and wondered 'could it be that I could be a runner and do my little bit or should I just stay comfy and watch from where I sit?'

That day I took the challenge and started something new.
I wonder, when I've done my bit can I pass it on to you?

NEWS FROM THE CHURCHES

BELMONT ROAD

Service of Worship including Thanksgiving and Farewell for Reverend Garry Jenkins

Thankfully, this was able to go ahead and it was lovely to meet everyone again even with our masks on. There were 49 of us to share in this service and despite no singing allowed there was a definite sense of God being present. Unfortunately, Colin C was unwell on the day, but Stephen Copson was able to share Colin's sermon.

A recording of the service of 6th September including Garry's farewell is now available - please contact Hazel if you are interested. Garry, Liz, Kate and Luke would like to thank everyone for the generous gift they received from the church. They also received a gift from the Sunday School and Luncheon Club, as well as many individual farewell cards that the members and friends had sent in prior to the service. We are incredibly grateful to all those that helped to make this service possible and our special thanks to the Carey members that served us so well on the day.

Gradual re-opening

Gradually our activities are reopening especially for our younger members (see below for details). Also, we have been able to open our church on a Sunday morning when our zoom service is relayed for those that prefer it there or cannot access zoom for themselves. We are incredibly grateful for all the extra effort this has taken by a few special members.

Preaching plan info for October for Belmont Zoom services

4th October - Worship led by Ken Payne from Aylesbury who led many services for us during Garry's illness.

11th October - Harvest Worship led by Harold Liberty from the Hertfordshire Fellowship of Baptist Preachers.

18th October - Worship led by our Moderator Tim Keightley.

25th October - Communion Service led by David Burden from the Hertfordshire Fellowship of Baptist Preachers.

Re-opening face to face BB&GA

BB HQ has approved BB&GA companies to re-start face to face meetings but with a lot of changes to manage the risk associated with the virus.

Different age groups now need to meet on different days so Anchors has moved to Tuesdays, from 5:45 to 7pm. Juniors is still on Fridays from 7pm to 8:15pm whilst Seniors will move to Sundays from 7pm to 8:15pm with the younger 14 plus encouraged to join them. Most of last year's 14 plus are older and are off to university and unfortunately there are not enough suitable evenings to have a separate meeting night for those that are still in Hemel.

The helpers and leaders for all age groups will be wearing face visors, which reduces the risk of virus transmission whilst still allowing the leaders to be seen and heard properly. The Seniors and younger 14 plus will be wearing their own face coverings. Games in the hall are being reinvented to work with everyone physically distanced by at least one metre whilst each member will have their own colouring pens etc so that they should not be sharing any items with anyone else. The age groups will be split into an older and younger group, where necessary, to limit each activity group to a maximum of 12 so that it is possible to respect the 1 metre distance in our relatively small hall and church. Door handles, chairs, tables, equipment etc will be cleaned before and after use to prevent the virus lingering on any surfaces. Hopefully we will still be able to have fun, whilst keeping safe!

Alpha course

We will be running an Alpha course on zoom in October, all are welcome. Alpha is an introduction to the Christian faith through talks, videos, and discussions. If you are interested please contact Eric Moore on 01442 255420 or by email to ericpal@aol.com. The day and time will be agreed by the participants.

Bike 'n Hike

Paul M valiantly took part in the Annual Charity Event in aid of the Historic Churches Trust to maintain these magnificent buildings and writes :- "It thankfully went ahead on Saturday 12/9 despite life as we now know it. This year I decided to walk the route in reverse. The Churches actually open included Carey Baptist and St John's, with a greeting presence outside St Mary's in Apsley. 17 Churches visited altogether.

Thank you so much to everyone who has kindly provided sponsorship and gave me their support on route. Must mention the Bus Driver who also contributed, as I travelled to Grove Hill. £200 has been raised/exceeded for the Bedfordshire & Hertfordshire Historic Churches Trust (BHHCT) and Belmont Road Baptist. The final total will be split 50:50.”

CAREY

Sunday worship

Because of the uncertainty about the increase in the rate of the virus, it was reluctantly decided that we would not return to worshipping in the church on 13th September and have been continuing to meet via zoom on Sunday mornings. Colin has also been making a short recording for the website each week. Please watch out for further announcements in the weekly newsletter.

Baby and Toddler Group re-starting

Olivia is planning to re-start the Baby and Toddler Group on Friday 2nd October. A maximum of four families will be able to attend at a time because of social distancing and there will be a booking system. Please contact Olivia on <https://m.facebook.com/careybabytoddlergroup>

Church Anniversary

On Sunday 18th October we shall be marking the 40th Anniversary of the formation of Carey by the merger of Boxmoor Baptist Church and Marlowes Baptist Church. (See pages 9-12 for more about this and photos of the last service at Boxmoor.) Our preacher was due to be Geoff Colmer from CBA, but he is currently undergoing medical treatment and unable to come. Instead we will have a recorded sermon by Rev David Gregory, minister of Croxley Green Baptist Church and former President of the Baptist Union.

Church open for private prayer

The church will continue to be open for private prayer on Mondays during October from 6.00-7.30pm. Colin is hoping that we might at some point be able to open once a week at lunchtime, 12.30-1.30pm, perhaps Thursday. This would depend on whether there were enough welcomers – contact Colin if you can offer to help.

‘Socially distanced’ walks

A growing number of people are meeting up for short walks in and around Gadebridge Park and Boxmoor. If you would be interested in meeting others from Carey for short walks in open areas around the town, please contact Hilary Donovan. These could be at different times of day and different days of the week. Numbers are limited to six in each group for the time being.

Mission Partners

Please continue to pray for our Mission Partners, Phil and Louise and Peter and Louise and the country of Bangladesh. Phil and Louise are still in the UK at the moment. Peter and Louise are due to return for their delayed Home Assignment shortly. BMS has decided to suspend all face-to-face visits to churches at the moment, so Peter and Louise will be sending us a video message later in the year.

CAREY'S 40TH ANNIVERSARY

This month marks the 40th Anniversary of Carey Baptist Church. On Sunday 19th October 1980 the first services were held of the new church, formed from the union of Boxmoor Baptist Church and Marlowes Baptist Church and using the Marlowes premises. There was a Service of Commitment in the morning and a Service of Celebration in the afternoon, including Communion, both led by members of the Hemel Hempstead Ministerial Team. The preacher on both occasions was Rev Hugh Cross, a former member of the ministerial team, who in the afternoon based his sermon on the immortal words of William Carey: "Expect great things from God, attempt great things for God".

You can read in the article by Tine Thurlow below something of the history of the Boxmoor church, her memories of church life there from the 1950's and the decision to close the church and join with Marlowes. The formation of Carey was clearly a much more momentous step for the members and congregation of Boxmoor than it was for those at Marlowes. Those of us who were members of Marlowes have much vaguer memories of the whole process, although some of us remember the setting up of a number of representative groups to discuss various aspects of church life in the new church. Jennifer Haywood remembers a meeting at Hilda Reynolds' house to discuss the merger (or otherwise!) of the various women's groups. (The men's groups of the two churches had already joined together as the Baptist Men's Fellowship.) Chris Nightingall recalls that the Boxmoor Boys' Brigade company (5th Hemel Hempstead), which only consisted of Anchor Boys and the Junior Section at that time, closed and joined with the Marlowes company. The company flag of the 5th was 'laid up' and stands with the other Brigade flags in the Carey sanctuary.

Members of both churches were asked to suggest names for the new church. The short list on which we voted included 'Carey' and 'Gade Valley' – the tongue-in-cheek suggestion of 'Marbox' was discounted! Tine writes about the Boxmoor connection to William Carey. The Marlowes church had always been a strong supporter of the Baptist Missionary Society and one of its past ministers, Rev Colin Dawson, had been the minister of Lower Circular Road Baptist Church in Calcutta, Carey's Church, for 11 years.

MEMORIES OF BOXMOOR BAPTIST CHURCH - OCTOBER 1980

It's never easy to say goodbye to the Church which you've attended since the age of 3, where you were baptised, married, dedicated your children, and saw your daughter baptised, but this is what happened when Boxmoor Baptist Church closed its doors for the last time in October 1980. Many people may not even be aware that there was a Baptist Church on the London Road, opposite the moor, between Stratford Way and Russell Place, which is now the site of a number of flats. However, the Church can still be seen in a painting by past Boxmoor member, the late Sid Johns, which hangs in Carey Church Lounge.

Boxmoor Baptist Church was founded in 1826 and was a Church with a great history. Among its founder members was missionary William Carey's sister, Ann Hobson, and their sister, Mary Carey, also later became a member. The sisters' gravestone was brought from Boxmoor and can be seen in Carey's front car park.

The 1950s saw a flourishing fellowship, with many young people being baptised. As the years passed, as people moved away and the congregation grew older, the maintenance of the Church fabric increased as the congregation decreased. By the late 1970's with a team ministry of three, serving four churches, it became evident that the best way forward would be for Boxmoor to close and merge with Marlowes Baptist Church to form a new church, which, after discussion, was to be named Carey.

And so it came about, after much prayerful consideration that on October 12th 1980 the final service was held at Boxmoor Baptist Church. There was a large congregation, many of whom were previous members who had travelled back especially for the occasion, and also there were a number of past and present ministers. We were grateful to our Marlowes Baptist friends who provided the afternoon tea, allowing Boxmoor folk to spend time with old friends.

As a congregation we were pleased to bring with us, the illuminated cross that now hangs in the church entrance at Carey, previously donated to Boxmoor Baptist by St Mary & St Joseph Catholic Church, and the Lectern Bible, donated by St Johns Church Boxmoor, on the occasion of the centenary of the church building in 1964. The sale of the Boxmoor site also enabled considerable refurbishment of the former Marlowes buildings, in particular the Memorial Hall and the kitchens.

Forty years on, Eileen (Huggett) and I are now the only regular worshippers from the Boxmoor congregation, but Fran Vickery, Gilly Thurlow, Lynn Whitton and Tricia Wilson (nee Ebdon) are still in contact with Carey, as is Tricia's brother, Les, who is now one of our regular visiting lay preachers.

Over the years we have witnessed the strengthening of the fellowship brought about by the merger of the two Churches, and pray that in the years to come Carey will continue to grow in fellowship and in its witness to the local community.

REBUILDING AND RENEWAL

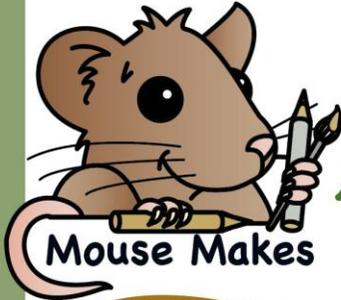

Carey recently donated about half of their World Development Fund for this year to the Embrace the Middle East appeal for Beirut, following the explosion in August. In their latest magazine the charity writes about how some of the money they have received has been spent.

‘With hospitals under pressure from the Covid-19 pandemic, primary healthcare centres are the first door that the people of Beirut will knock on for help and support,’ says Serop Ohanian, director of the Karagheusian Medical Centre in Bourj Hammoud. ‘Unless we rebuild, it will not be possible for us to welcome the 4,500 vulnerable patients we would normally help in a year.’

The Karagheusian Centre serves the Beirut suburb of Bourj Hammoud, where the predominantly Armenian population has been joined by Syrian refugees in recent years. Many people live in poverty and the clinic provides healthcare free of charge. It is about 2km away from the site of the blast, and was badly damaged. Yet in an inspiring display of resilience and selflessness, the staff team immediately began sweeping up the broken glass and making the caved-in ceilings safe. They had patients who needed them; it was vital to get the centre back in action. Just two days after the explosion, they were able to treat 341 people, and by setting up mobile medical centres in vehicles parked in front of the damaged building, they have been able to continue with patient consultations ever since.

The centre asked for our help to get the clinic repaired and fully operational as soon as possible. Thanks to you – our community of generous supporters – we were able to send emergency funding straight away. For families struggling with unemployment, lockdown and now the destruction of their homes, a loss of healthcare would be hard to endure. This is why your donations are so important – they get to the heart of the situation and directly help Lebanese Christians to relieve their neighbours’ suffering.

THIS MONTH 100 YEARS AGO

We are having to take a break this month from our series looking at church life at Marlowes Baptist Church in 1920, with material copied from The Baptist Home Messenger, as the October and November pages are missing from our archives. Although we assume that the church marked its Anniversary on the third Sunday in October with at least one special service, we do not have any reports to pass on. Although the November page is missing we do have reports in the December issue, including details of a very special event in the life of the denomination and the part that Marlowes played in it.

GRAPEVINE

Items for the November issue of 'Grapevine' should be with Hilary Donovan (hilary.donovan@hotmail.com / 01442 258268) or Paula Moore (Belmont Road) by Sunday 18th October. We will continue to send 'Grapevine' by email to all those for whom we have addresses in the coming months, but will print a few copies for those not connected to the internet or with only limited access. 'News of the Fellowship' has been produced as a separate document. This is because Carey would like to be able to put 'Grapevine' on their website and we do not want personal information to be available to everyone who might access it there.

MAKING SPACE FOR WHAT WILL BE

The following are extracts from an article by Lynn Green, General Secretary of BUGB, in the Autumn issue of the 'Baptists Together' magazine, which has the theme: 'Seeking to Listen - Listening to God, listening to each other'. Each church has received a few copies and you can access it online at www.baptist.org.uk Paper copies are available at £3 each or £8 for a year's subscription.

"I am doing a new thing..."

Ever since I became General Secretary, I have sensed that God was saying to us as a movement that he was doing a new thing in and through us. The verses from Isaiah 43:18-19 have particularly resonated with me and many others. I also sensed that in order for God to be able to do a new thing among us we needed to make space for him to speak and act and, over the years, we have created Beacons of Prayer as we have waited on the Lord together.....

So, what is the Lord continuing to say to us through these verses now?

"Do not dwell on the past..."

As the weeks and months have passed since the beginning of this global pandemic we have felt the loss of things that were precious and had largely been taken for granted. We experienced the shock of those first weeks in lockdown as nearly everything stopped, we stayed at home and our church buildings closed. As we approached the three month stage our hearts were crying out, "how long, Lord?" and we longed for an end to restrictions as we tried to get our heads around the fact that this pandemic wasn't going away anytime soon. When 'Independence Day' dawned, we quickly realised that our longing for greater freedom brought with it great responsibility as we ploughed through guidance notes and risk assessments, and we felt overwhelmed and out of our depth.

When we prayed for God to do a new thing, we didn't imagine it would be like this...

Yet these verses from Isaiah remind us that while we give thanks for the past and celebrate all that was precious, the Lord is encouraging us to leave the past behind and be willing to step into a new future. 'Forget the former things, do not dwell on the past...'....

Now it springs up, do you not perceive it?

.... One thing that I have continually had to remind myself is that just because I am not in control does mean that God is not in control. Waiting. Attentiveness. Trust. Dependence. This is what growing in Christ looks like right now. And the passage from Isaiah emphasises this; it talks about perceiving what God is doing. 'See I am doing a new thing, now it springs up, do you not perceive it?' That suggests to me that what God is doing is not necessarily obvious or predictable.

Having an attitude of waiting does not mean that we will do nothing, though! As we wait and listen we are also poised for obedient action and ready to follow where the Lord leads us.

I am making a way...

Two things, in particular, have struck me about this season. Firstly, that we need to change our thinking away from a 'we've got to get through this' mentality, as if this is just some sort of blip that we will get through and then revert to normal again. Things will never go back to how they were; the world has changed. I believe that the place we find ourselves in now is a transitional space, an in-between place where we have left behind the former things and are venturing towards the new that we cannot yet see. This is not a space to 'get through' but a call from the Lord inviting us to dwell in the present moment with him, embracing all that is at the moment and perceiving what he is doing in this season.

My sense is that as we dwell in the present moment, and as we perceive what the Lord is doing and join him in that, we will find ourselves venturing towards that future that we so long for. Not in one mighty, clearly defined, leap from a to b, but as an unfolding adventure that will take us beyond what we can know and lead us into a future that we cannot yet imagine.

An image that God has been laying on my heart since the end of last year is that of setting our sails to catch the wind of God's Spirit. As individuals, as churches and as a movement. I believe that as we unfurl our sails and open ourselves in readiness for the wind of God's Spirit to lead us, we can trust that we will be taken wherever God wants us to go. God has promised, 'See I am doing a new thing...' The Lord leads and we follow and in every season, that is enough.
