As I work alongside older people as a member of the clergy, I'm conscious that many have the experience of finding that they can no longer do what they used to: ageing bodies are no longer fully functional (sight, mobility, heart, ...); energy levels aren't what they were. I'm also conscious that I'm getting older and wondering when I might have to start living with some of the problems I see in others; already I'm having to wear glasses more often than not – and than I would like to! Some of these things can be overcome by treatment or assistance; and there's nothing wrong with investigating whether a cure is possible; but in many cases they are the sort of thing we have to learn to live with. Of course, chronic health problems can occur at any age; and then there are those other deficiencies in our make-up and personality which may go with us throughout our lives. Yes, a degree of change may be possible; but if we are to be whole people there will be imperfect aspects of ourselves which we somehow have to integrate: to deny them, to pretend that we are other than we are, is a deceptive, energy-sapping and ultimately fruitless endeavour, whether we are fooling ourselves, or trying to fool other people. The commandment "Love your neighbour as yourself" requires us to love ourselves, as we truly are, not as we would like ourselves to be – and that requires a degree of compassion towards ourselves – the same compassion that we would like others to display towards us and that we might hope to exercise towards them.

Integrating our imperfections is not something we can do entirely on our own: we need others to relate to us and accept us as we are, not as we would like them to see us. That's not always easy: partly because our personalities have been shaped by how we want to appear (perhaps strong, positive, capable, successful, popular, good, or distinctive) and partly because we might fear how others might react to our vulnerabilities – will they try to exploit them, or change how they view and treat us? Our culture is not always compassionate in its responses. What's true for individuals is also true for organisations. Yes, organisations need to be accountable; but if the culture is dominated by name and shame, litigation, or punishes anything less than 100%, then we shouldn't be surprised if they become over concerned with reputation, less than transparent, or content to let others take the blame for their shortcomings.

As we enter Lent, the Church walks with one who was content to be known more for his vulnerability than his ability. Jesus' active ministry teaches us a lot; but it is on the cross that he most deeply communicates who he is and how he feels about us. God is no longer characterised by omnipotence, but incorporates (embodies) human frailty. The capacity for divine compassion towards imperfect human being is revealed. Which, given that God knows us as we truly are, rather than as we would like him to see us, is a source of grace and peace.

Funerals

We commit to God's keeping:-

Michael Anthony Morris Parry, aged 86, on 10th January at St John the Baptist's, Reedham

Parish Notes

World Day of Prayer this year uses material from the women of Palestine – presumably that was lined up well before the worsening of the long-running conflict. Our two local services (open to men and women) are at the Methodist churches in Acle (2.00pm) and Freethorpe (2.30pm) on Friday 1st March.

Acle Parochial Church Council was initially perplexed by word that we were listed in an article in the EDP: "Norfolk churches received £870k in government funds in 2023". When we located it we realised this referred to the Listed Places of Worship Scheme. Initiated by Gordon Brown in 2001, this welcome Scheme refunds the VAT churches have to pay on repairs and related work: it was threatened with termination not so long ago and we lobbied for its extension. In other words, the Government is just returning to us the money we have paid them – not quite what the headline implies!

We have two offerings for Lent: one based in Acle (but open to the whole benefice) and one (led by Sr Heidi Marie) within our normal Lent services and on our website (go to www.abychurches.co.uk and scroll down to find Audio):-

You Can Be Serious! Meeting Jesus Afresh in John's Gospel. This York Course is written by Bishop David Wilbourne (a former chaplain to two Archbishops of York, known for his insight and sense of humour). Acle Churches Together will be following it in 5 sessions on Monday afternoons in Lent, starting on 26th February: 2.30pm at Acle Methodist Church. The course booklet will be available from there, or St. Edmund's (pay £5 to the clergy) or you can order your own from www.eden.co.uk (ISBN: paperback 9781915843012; e-book 9781915843029). Read the chapter concerned before attending the session.

'My God In Whom I Trust' ... - Lent Reflections by Sister Heidi Marie

This year I will be offering Lent reflections during the Sunday Worship. The theme this year will be exploring 'My God In Whom I Trust', which is part of Psalm 91. Using the Sunday readings, we will be looking more specifically at the nature of God in whom we trust. (continued on page 7)

A happy and healthy new year to all our members.

The club re-opened on January 9th after our Christmas break, and we welcomed three new members.

We like all our members to have their covid injections up to date; after losing a member through covid the committee implemented this rule.

Our first buffet this month will be for Burns night and we will celebrate any members who have a January birthday at the same time.

Our lottery was won on January 6th by Marie Sills, and what a way to start the new year - Marie won a jackpot of £432.00, and Marie very kindly gave the club a donation for which we are extremely grateful.

We are waiting for the coach company to give us their itinerary and we can then make a decision on a coach trip which will be free to members, non-coach travellers will have a meal at Acle Bridge.

If you would like to join our club just come along any Tuesday to Reedham Village Hall at 1.30pm. Membership is £7.00 per year and weekly subs are £3.00.

Our lottery is open to non-members as well as club members, the more members the bigger the jackpot. Just give me a ring.

WICKHAMPTON NEWS

Plough Sunday: 14 January 2024

The annual blessing of the plough took place at St Andrew's, Wickhampton, on Sunday 14 January. It was a cold morning but, thankfully, dry and bright, and the congregation of almost 30 gathered round the tractor outside the church, where Rev Greenland blessed the plough, the seed and a garden fork! The service then continued inside, with Holy Communion, followed by very welcome teas, coffees, cheese straws and cake! Our thanks go to Alfie, Owen and Roy for bringing the plough, and for their invaluable work – ploughing the fields and scattering the good seed on the land.

Womens' Night Out at Freethorpe Village Hall Wednesday February 7th
7.30pm

We feel fortunate to be working with such a friendly and wonderful bunch of people.

We hold monthly quizzes at The Ship in Reedham and our quiz night on Sunday 14th January raised £100! Thank you to Julia for being quiz master and to the pub for their continued support. Our next quiz will be on Sunday 11th February at The Ship in Reedham at 7:30 pm. Teams of up to 6 and it is £1.50 per person. We'll also run a raffle and the bar will be open.

Outlook Magazine.

As previously reported, there will be some changes to the way Outlook is distributed.

One change which affects all the parishes is that the collected subscriptions will be paid to the relevant parish, which will then pass on the money, less a discount, to Reedham Parish where the printing and editing take place. Could people who deliver the magazine please remember to collect the subscriptions, and pass it on to the relevant parish, otherwise the parishes will lose out!

If there are any who no longer wish to subscribe, the magazine will still be available free on the website, or by contacting reedham.church@gmail.com to go on an electronic mailing list. Please add the following statement – 'I consent to Reedham Church holding my personal details to be used solely for the distribution of the Outlook magazine.'

Enclosed with this edition will be a separate flyer for Reedham so we can gather the details of those who wish to subscribe, and how to pay; or how to go on the mailing list. We will need all this information before 16th March (April Copy Date), which is when the new system comes into being.

N.B. – COPY DATE IS EARLY THIS MONTH – 14TH FEBRUARY!

A Talk & Presentation by Historian, Author & Aviation Archeologist
Ian McLachlan

At Reedham Village Hall on Friday 2nd February 2024 at 19:30pm

On February 21st 1944 two B17G Flying Fortresses #42-37963 & #42-31370 from the 385th Bomb Group Great Ashfield, were part of a 900-plane bombing mission that was returning to base, and was only a few minutes from landing. In tragic circumstances they collided in the cloudy skies over the marshes near Reedham. all 21 crew lost their lives.

Ian McLachlan gives a fascinating account of his research into the tragedy over Reedham when two B-17 Flying Fortress bombers collided exactly 80 years ago. Ian relates how Time Team became involved to support the establishment of a memorial honouring and remembering the young airmen who lost their lives in an incident now woven into the history of the community"
