7th March 2021

Dear brothers and sisters,

The past year has been upsetting in so many ways – the upset and the pain of not being able to be with people we love and enjoy, at times we would have wanted to be. The disruption of shops, businesses, sports clubs, being forced to close. The disappointment of holidays cancelled. The unsettling thought of not knowing when we can put firm plans in the diary again. Such an upsetting year, our daily lives rocked to the core.

Jesus brings great upset in the Gospel reading set for this Sunday. Wielding a whip and sending tables, goats, sheep, doves, coins flying in all directions. It must have been mayhem. He was so angry to turn everything upside-down in the Temple courts like that. That in itself overturns idea we have of gentle Jesus, meek and mild, the Prince of Peace. This is God who is slow to anger, but he does reach a point here where his righteous anger overturns the tables. 'Stop making my Father's house into a marketplace', he could be saying, 'My Father's house is for prayer and worship, and you clutter the place up, disrupting prayer and worship with your noisy trading and marketplace activities.' It's a misunderstanding to assume Jesus overturned the tables because of money – it's not about that. It's all about prayer and worship. It's about giving God all the honour and glory.

In this time when the pandemic has overturned many aspects of our daily lives, perhaps now is a really good time to consider whether there's things we usually do in our day which gets in the way of prayer and worship. Maybe not trading in animals like would have happened in Jesus' day, but perhaps nonetheless we do things which make it hard for us to draw close to God across all the clutter?

It's how we treat God that's at stake here. We need to ask ourselves, do what we do in our worship, in our prayers, in our daily lives, bring honour to God, does it give him all the glory....or do we fill our days up with so much clutter that gets in the way? Do we spend more time in our day bringing glory to ourselves than to God? I believe that now – before things return to 'normal' – is the time to re-evaluate our lives, to look carefully at everything we do. And to look not only at what we do, but the way we do it.

The reason this is important, is because Jesus died on a cross – and rose again – so we might be forgiven our wrongdoings, which is fundamental to being able to draw close to God, to being able to pray and to worship. That's the cross which is foolishness to those who are perishing, it's completely misunderstood by those without faith. Having Christ-like approach to life overturns the values of most of the world, but orients us to God's values, to His way of viewing this world. If we are to draw close to Him, and Him to us, then we need to adopt his approach to life also.

This Lent, let us ensure that in all we do, all we say, all we think, wherever we find ourselves, however we are feeling – let us ensure we draw close to God, we love Him with our whole heart and mind and soul and strength, so that all the praise and glory will go to Him.

With love in Christ, Tina
