Welcome to our new Minister

Rev Julia Cato

On Thursday 30th May Rev Julia Cato was inducted as the first minister of Edinburgh Northwest Kirk (ENK) in a moving service held at Pennywell Kirk. Julia was presented with the three signs of shared ministry, which are a Bible, water and a Communion cup.

Julia gained her Master of Divinity at Union Theological Seminary, New York and then continued her studies at New College, University of Edinburgh where she completed her candidature for the Ministry of the Church of Scotland and was ordained by the Presbytery of Edinburgh. Before joining ENK Julia was Associate Minister at Greenbank Church in Morningside. There she gained experience in all aspects of ministry, in particular leading work with children and families and engaging in school chaplaincy. She has a strong background in justice work including the care of people and creation. Julia has over 15 years of experience working with both faith-based and secular organisations, focussing on strengthening partnerships and creating more just and caring communities. In her application to ENK, Julia said: "There is a great need to provide opportunities for spiritual nourishment and formation in new and creative ways. The global pandemic revealed a need to re-evaluate how we engage with the most vulnerable in our society. Caring for our communities' well-being and mental health is now more crucial than ever. The time is right for the Church to refocus its efforts in modelling just living and being a healing presence in this diverse world, as reflected in the life of Jesus Christ. Edinburgh Northwest Kirk's vision of worship, service and outreach is one I feel called to be a part of." Julia is married to Rev Ian Alexander and they have two boys aged 8 and 10. They will live at the manse in Silverknowes Road.

Fair Trade goodies

The Fair Trade foundation is celebrating its 30th birthday this year. Cramond Kirk is a Fair Trade church and it is 20 years since Edinburgh was granted Fair Trade City status.

Come and buy at The Cramond Kirk FT stall in The Gathering Space on Sunday 14 July. There is no stall in August but a special FT event is planned for 8 September. Remember you can help to support farmers and producers in developing countries by using FT goods at every meal: coffee, tea, jam, bananas, mangoes, orange juice, honey, nuts, spices, rice, wine and much more.

ENK elders

After a year of many changes and much bus-i-ness it was with some relief that Elders met informally on 24th March for discussion about eldership and pastoral care as well as a light lunch. We reflected on our calling to eldership and how our roles have changed to align with new pathways of the church and wider society. Exchanging views and experiences on pastoral care gave some of us comfort in this occasionally difficult duty. It also increased the understanding that not all Elders need have the same talents to fulfil the role. Some may have aptitude to speak, listen and empathise, others can complete tasks which are equally essential for a church that has to function, like a business, with due care and diligence for its people and buildings.

Congregation members who are interested in finding out more about being an Elder are most welcome to contact the Session Clerk Team through the Kirk Office: office@cramondkirk.org.uk

Moving from the Interim to the Permanent

My time as Interim Moderator at Edinburgh Northwest Kirk (ENK) is over. The past 18 months have flown by and in church-life terms it has been a period of pretty rapid change. I enjoyed being with you as we went through the process of uniting two congregations and calling a new minister. The shape of the Kirk Session has changed with the formation of Teams to help advance the work. These are fine achievements taken alongside the challenge of getting to know one another better.

It seems significant to me that I should be writing this on Ascension Day – one of the less celebrated, but important landmarks in the Christian journey from Easter through to Pentecost. The story of Ascension in Acts 1:6–11 is a strange idea to our modern minds – Jesus somehow disappears from his disciples' view 'up' to heaven in a cloud, never to be seen again. Many artists have tried to picture this, as though it were a literal event – Google 'Ascension Images' and you'll find the fruits of artistic imagination to be a strange brew!

What is this story trying to communicate to us as readers? Easter has passed, with its stories of resurrection and encounter with the Risen Christ. He has promised the coming of the Holy Spirit with power from on high and this comes at Pentecost (50 days after Easter Sunday, 10 days after Ascension). The writer of Acts tries to explain through the story of the Ascension what happens to the risen, earthly Jesus – there is no body 'left behind' for us to visit. What the story seeks to convey is that, in order for the Spirit to come in a universal way for us all to experience, the earthly Jesus needs to 'disappear'. The interim period between the physical presence of Jesus (Easter) and the permanent age of the Spirit (Pentecost) needs to come to an end, allowing the real ongoing work of Christ, through Christ's Spirit-filled followers, to begin and flourish. Pentecost brings the utterly transforming power of the Holy Spirit and with it the beginning of the new age.

The tale of the Ascension is scarcely meant to be taken literally – but it contains an important symbolic message for all of us who belong now in the age of the Spirit. The waiting time is over and the dependence on the physical presence of Jesus is done with. In a very real sense, the earthly Jesus needs to clear out of the way for the Spirit to do her work. The interim period is past and will not be repeated. We are expected to live in the new age and to welcome what it brings, however scary that might seem!

As an Interim Moderator, Ascension is a great time to be 'clearing off', creating the space for the new to flourish. We have used the interim period together to get new structures in place for the future, but it is now that the fresh work of mission begins. As your new minister, Julia Cato, takes on the task of leadership at ENK, I know that you will celebrate the end of the interim and the start of the next phase of the permanent. I hope you will both welcome Julia and embrace the potential for change and growth which the new breath of the Spirit brings.

God bless you on that journey.

Rev Dr Martin Scott, Ascension Day, 2024.

Eric Liddell

"I believe God made me for a purpose, but He also made me fast. And when I run I feel His pleasure."

Eric Liddell is best remembered through the 1981 film Chariots of Fire, but his name was familiar to me long before that. Eric was both an outstanding athlete and a Christian missionary. He studied, lived and taught in Edinburgh and represented Scotland in Rugby and Athletics. At the 1924 Summer Olympics in Paris, Liddell refused to run in the heats for his favoured 100 metres because they were held on a Sunday. Instead he competed in the 400 metres held on a weekday, and won gold. He returned to China (his birthplace) in 1925 to serve as a missionary teacher. He only came back to Scotland for two furloughs, one of which he spent at Carcant near Heriot. His sister Jenny was married to Charles Somerville, my great uncle, and I sometimes met her at Carcant when my family visited my grandmother and aunt who lived there. While Eric was there I am told he ran on the hills – training? or for the joy of it? or both? He also played tennis with various family members on a rough grass court they tried to maintain in the cow park where two milking cows grazed.

Eric remained a missionary in rural China until his death in a Japanese internment camp for civilians in 1945. There he inspired both internees and guards by his cheerfulness and his deep spirituality. He led physical exercises, taught classes to keep minds sharp and shared his faith. Even in the camp he lived as he lived his whole life with passion, compassion and integrity.

Eric said "We are all missionaries. Wherever we go we either bring people nearer to Christ or we repel them from Christ."

Annual Youth Service

The Scouting section took the lead in the annual Youth Service at Cramond Kirk on Sunday 3rd March. The theme was community and the positive ways the young people involved in the scouting and guiding sections regularly contribute to their local community.

After receiving the Union Flag and section flags from the colour parties (including one from the newly formed Thursday Scout section), Rev Ian Gilmour welcomed everyone to his penultimate Sunday at Cramond Kirk. He spoke about community, a poignant choice as he paid a very personal tribute to the P7 Cramond School pupil who had tragically lost his life on his way to school, just two days earlier. His and the congregation's condolences and best wishes were extended to the family and to his friends present in the Kirk.

The Beavers (aged 6-8 years) spoke about several activities they had taken part in, including visits from the local police and fire brigade. They also undertook a beach litter pick, finding plastic, wipes and lots of broken glass and, after the winter storm, helped clear the fallen tree in the Kirk Hall grounds.

The Cubs (8-10 years) spoke about a visit to the Cramond Woodland Group, helping to protect newly planted trees and planting ferns to prevent invasive species. Near the Kirk Hall they watered the commemorative trees during the summer drought and spruced up the courtyard garden by painting and planting flowers in the tubs. They also undertook the annual cleaning of the signs on the Cramond Heritage Trail.

The Scouts (10-14 years) chose to highlight the plight of homeless people by building cardboard shelters and spending a very cold night (-3°C) sleeping outside the Kirk Hall. Sponsorship for this raised £3000 for Fresh Start.

Lastly, the Explorers (14-18 years) described the numerous litter picks undertaken around Cramond and on the beach and how they helped remove invasive Salmonberry from Corstorphine Hill. Many of them volunteer in roles throughout the local community and as Young Leaders in the younger sections, achieving numerous badges in the process. Their annual fundraising effort with Santa's Sleigh, going since 2009, involves towing Santa in his sleigh around community for five nights to allow young children and their families to meet Santa and contribute to the fund-raising. This year over £3000 was raised, some of which helps fund the Explorer activities, though each year much of the money raised is distributed to local charities, especially those involving children.

Kirk Social Activities

CRAMOND COFFEE & CHAT takes place every Monday from 10.30 am to 12 noon in the Gathering Space of Cramond Kirk Hall. We hope to see you there.

'THE PLACE TO BE' COFFEE MORNING takes place in Pennywell Kirk every Monday at 10 am. All are welcome.

PENNYWELL KIRK GAME GROUP meets fortnightly on Sundays from 1-3 pm, playing dominoes and other board games. All are welcome and it is free.

There are always teas, coffees and biscuits on the go. [Those coming from the church service should bring some lunch.]

Congratulations to Emma

Congratulations to Emma McMillan, a member of ENK, who has been accepted by The Church of Scotland as a candidate in training for Full Time Ministry of Word and Sacrament. Emma is also a talented musician who sings in the Cramond Kirk choir. She is now looking forward to studying for a Master of Divinity (MDiv), an accelerated honours degree, at the University of Edinburgh.

A Cramond Fare Ye Weel

for Revd Ian Gilmour, 10 March 2024

The snowdrops drop their heads in prayers that will be heard next year.

The sycamore prepares its helicopter seeds
to fill a gap.

Down the river runway
the swans flap furiously, but will be seen again, serene.

Day pilgrims and the tide
go out, stop, turn, return,
the Almond greets the faithful Forth.

The dabchick dives
and in another place pops up.

The heron lifts its head,
takes fright, takes flight,
but soon swings back.

The morning moon
is fading fast,
but shines again tonight.

Pastor, your flock, new-shorn,
feels for a while, forlorn,
but every fleece grows back.

And you, our shepherd?
You hear a call for care and skills,
days dreich, days bright, on other hills.

Jumble Sale

Bargains to be had

A very successful jumble sale was held at Cramond Kirk Halls on 2nd March 2024. The amount raised was £4000 which was divided equally between two charities, Fresh Start and The Rock Trust, who were both extremely grateful for the generous donation. All the unsold items were distributed between Bethany Christian Trust, Cat Rescue and local charity shops. There was a happy and relaxed atmosphere at the event and we want to express our wholehearted thanks to all who made the day such a success. There are too many people to mention by name but everyone worked so hard to produce such a splendid result. Thanks to those who donated goods and to all who came along on the day to support the venture. Without all this support we could not have had such a magnificent outcome.

From the Fresh Start Team

Over the last year demand for Fresh Start services has surged – in some cases by more than 50%. Our Starter Pack service has seen referrals continue to rise despite us sending out nearly 18,000 packs in the last financial year. While donated goods still make up the majority of the Starter Packs, these items alone are not enough to sustain the service, so we regularly purchase items such as duvets, small electricals, pots/pans and cleaning products. That is why fundraisers such as the Edinburgh Northwest Kirk Jumble Sale are so vital, with the money being raised going directly back into our services and to the people who need our support. The £2,000 donated will allow us to help approximately 50 people to receive the vital household items that they need to set up their tenancy and turn an empty shell into a home.

As ever, we are extremely thankful to all the volunteers and organisers of the Jumble Sale and the wider community for your continued support. By donating funds, goods and your time you are helping to make a real difference to the lives of some of the most vulnerable people in our community - thank you.

CRAMOND KIRK BABY AND TODDLER GROUP

50 years ago, we were The Mother and Toddler Group.

25 years ago, The Parent and Toddler Group

In 2000, with not only parents but grandparents and childminders attending, we became Cramond Kirk Baby and Toddler Group.

We are the highlight of local families' Tuesday mornings when the Hall comes alive with an amazing array of games, toys and craft activities.

For many people we have often been the first contact a family new to the area will make with The Kirk. We aim to be a place where parents of new babies can meet up and be of support to each other. For many of them it's the start of lifelong friendships as their children grow up and start school together. It also can be considered a safe environment for isolated parents and children to form new friendships. My own children count as their best friends people whom they met 40 years ago on a Tuesday morning in the Kirk Hall!

Since Anne Mather started the group 50 years ago the format has remained much the same. We have a cosy little section where mums can feed their babies; there's a much larger area where the toddlers can wander about selecting toys ranging from a doll's house to transporters, slides, a trampoline and a rocking horse; a quiet corner for books, jigsaws and construction toys; and a noisy section for ride on bikes and cars. Nearly all the toys have been donated by members over the years when their children grow out of them.

Mid-morning we stop for a healthy snack with members taking turns to prepare it. It's an excellent way for children to be introduced to a range of fruit and nibbles that they might not get at home. The craft too is a fun activity that "crafty" parents or grandparents can choose to take a turn to prepare. The morning ends with a singing session.

We hold end of term parties which the children seem to just love. Our next event is a Teddy Bears' Picnic and we will finish in June with a Summer Party.

We are very grateful for the use of the Hall which we recognise is a main hub for the community of Cramond and beyond. Thank you from Cramond Kirk Baby and Toddlers Group to Cramond Kirk.

Do spread the word to young families that we are here and will give them a warm welcome.

We charge £4 per family and it's entry free for an adult with a baby aged under 1.

Visit our Facebook page - Cramond Kirk Baby and Toddler Group - or just pop in on a Tuesday morning from 9.30 to 11.30 to see us in action!

Give, Act, Pray

Many thanks to all who contributed to the Cramond Kirk Christian Aid Week activities in May – door-to-door collecting, taking part in the Quiz, donating and buying goods and running stalls at the Fair.

So far we have raised over £4,500.

Part of a prayer for Christian Aid Week: We give thanks for the vital work of Christian Aid, and for all who support this work. May our offerings transform the prospects of those living in extreme poverty. God of justice, mercy, and peace, send us out to serve you. May your extraordinary love radiate through our words and actions, every day of our lives. Amen.

In praise of Cramond Kirk Hall

Cramond Kirk Hall

Where is a more important social centre and hub in Cramond than Cramond Kirk Hall?

Today Cramond Kirk Hall is a welcoming venue for everyone. The smell of coffee and bacon rolls wafts out to greet early morning arrivals with their yoga mats. During the day dog walkers pop in for soup and home baking. David and Alison are ever present making sure everything is as it should be.

Throughout the week and all year long, the doors of the Kirk Hall are open to every local group. Weddings and Festivals are held in the hall. Classes and clubs meet here. Fundraisers such as the annual Jumble Sale and Christmas Fair rake in cash for good causes. Musical groups practise and perform here. Christian Aid plant sales, lunches, quiz nights and Fair Trade Stalls bring the community together to support their aim for justice and dignity. Every age range is catered for in the disabled friendly warm hub that is Cramond Kirk Hall.

Where would the good people of Cramond be without the church hall? Who remembers what happened when the Millenium Hall was being built? Where did all the local groups go then?

You can play badminton or bridge or become a dancer in Cramond Kirk Hall. You can host business meetings there. Children's parties are regularly held in the same space where local historians gather for lectures. Scouting and Guiding thrive in Cramond not just because of their excellent leaders but also because they have a wonderful base.

All of this happens in Cramond Kirk Hall before we even come to think of its importance to the church ministry. Without the Kirk Hall, how would the different sections of the Sunday School and youth club function?

Do you have any special memories of activities and events you have attended in the hall? It is such a very special place in Cramond!

The history of The Old Kirk of Edinburgh

The new parish of Edinburgh Northwest Kirk, formed last year, is a union between Cramond Kirk and Pennywell Kirk, formerly known as The Old Kirk and Muirhouse. Where did the name The Old Kirk come from?

After the Reformation in 1560 there were so many worshippers at St Giles that the church was partitioned and used by four separate congregations: the East (or High) Kirk, the Tolbooth (or West) Kirk, Haddo's Hole Kirk and the Auld (or Great) Kirk. The latter used the crossing area and part of the nave of St Giles and can claim John Knox as its first minister as he, together with three other colleagues, led worship in the building from 1560-1572.

The Old Kirk stayed in St Giles until 1829, when major alterations to the latter began: it was restored to a single church in 1869. Retaining the name of the Old Kirk, the congregation then started its journey to northwest Edinburgh by first moving to Blackfriars Street and then, in 1882, to a purpose-built church at the SW corner of St John's Street. The next move was in 1941 when the Old Kirk was transported to Crewe Toll, where the Shell Garage now stands, and given the parish of West Pilton. In 1951 there was another move to a new building at 24 Pennywell Road and there the congregation stayed until June 2014 when the congregations of Muirhouse St Andrews and The Old Kirk of Edinburgh united to form The Old Kirk and Muirhouse, based in the Pennywell Gardens Kirk.

The Old Kirk of Edinburgh is witness to the fact that buildings may come and go but the work of Christians to worship God and serve their communities continues year on year. St Giles is celebrating its 900th anniversary this year. The name may have disappeared but, if you visit the National Museum of Scotland, you can see The Old Kirk sacramental vessels (a silver ewer and basin) which had been made in 1602/3, probably not for church use, but bought in 1728 for baptismal use.

Tribute to OJ

OJ in the National Gallery

"It's not fair" that someone so beautiful inside and out is no longer here.

"It's not fair" to work so hard and dream so vividly and have no tomorrow.

"It's not fair" to have had all that love and faith and still die young.

Those three words were never said by OJ, a person of immense faith and strength. I first met OJ in January 2023 through Project Esperanza. As an NHS cancer care doctor I was in a good position to advise OJ who had stage 4 cancer and had been given weeks to live. A bright and capable lady, she completely grasped her situation but was determined to live for the day and make the best of every God given moment. I have never seen anyone quite like her.

OJ was keen to see as much of Scotland as possible - palaces, parks and art galleries. The last thing we attended was Project Esperanza's Christmas Party where she looked like a supermodel. No one had any idea how ill she was and she never used the wheelchair I had in the back of my car.

OJ used minimal morphine. Her faith and the love and support of Dennis, friends, the church, the NHS, Napier University, Project Esperanza and her caring family in Nigeria kept her going. She was literally fuelled by faith and love.

Emily Bronte said:

"No coward soul is mine

No trembler in the world's storm troubled sphere

I see Heaven's glories shine

And faith shines equal arming me from fear."

This was OJ's attitude too. She trusted God implicitly and He provided. OJ was joyous and there was nothing depressing about visiting her, although she was dying. She taught me so much about love, faith and living day to day with joy. She had a disarming smile that would make you want to do anything and everything for her.

"It's not fair" that OJ didn't live to see graduation.

"It's not fair" that she didn't get married and have children.

"It's not fair" that she died in her 30s, just as Jesus did.

But see how much love she radiated and how many people loved her right back. Jesus' end was not fair either but consider how much both achieved in their short lives.

OJ was not rich in money or years, but rich in love. I am certain that she would not like us to be bitter or say: "it's not fair."

SUMMER SOLSTICE PRAYER

The Summer Solstice will occur on Thursday 20th June. The name, sol + stice comes from two Latin words meaning 'sun' and 'to stand still'. As the days lengthen, the sun rises higher and higher until it seems to stand still in the sky. On 20th June we will experience the longest day and the shortest night of the year. At 9.51pm the Summer Solstice will occur: it is the exact moment when the Northern Hemisphere is most tilted towards the Sun. Here is a prayer to use on the day.

God in All by St Patrick

He inspires all, He gives life to all, He dominates all,

He supports all. He lights the light of the sun.

He furnishes the light of the night.

He has made springs in dry land.

*He is the God of heaven and earth, of sea and rivers, of sun, moon and stars, of the lofty mountain and the lowly valley,
the God above heaven, and in heaven, and under heaven*

Death and Dying Information Morning

Pennywell Kirk
(42 Pennywell Gardens)
Saturday 22 June 10 am to 12 noon

Do you know what to do when a family member dies?

The procedure for registering a death has changed and this is a chance to find out how it now works.

This free event has been arranged to give you an opportunity to chat informally to funeral directors, solicitors and a registrar. You will be able to make appointments to discuss funeral plans, wills and power of attorney but there will be no pressure to do so.

Drop in any time during the morning for a chat and free refreshments.
