From the Editor

It seems decidedly chilly this evening though we are asked to believe that we are approaching summer. Our cover would have us think differently with its decidedly Spring-like look. Why have I used that picture? Well, there was a photography competition as part of the Platinum Jubilee celebrations and this lovely winning photograph was taken by Jared Bollington (aged 10).

Looking forward to summer with its sunny afternoons and long evenings, you will find plenty of things in this edition to keep you happy. Whether it's musical events, talks, afternoon tea, flower festivals, fetes there must be something that takes your fancy. Do go and support them; it would be good to build on the community spirit that was exhibited at the Jubilee events across the Chet Valley.

Times aren't easy at the moment! If you are one of the many people across the country who are struggling financially, and if you are resident in Loddon or Chedgrave, please do call upon the local help available: Loddon Town Estate Trust (for people living in Loddon); and Chedgrave Church Discretionary Fund (for people living in Chedgrave or who are regular members of the congregation at All Saints). They are there to be used; details on p25. Don't forget, there is also access to the Foodbank: phone 0300 365 1123—it's a free number. They'll put you in contact with the local distributors in Loddon.

Ministerial Musings

'Thank you for staying the course. Thank you for continuing to be faithful to the pledges you made 70 years ago. Thank you for showing us how service and faithfulness matter. People of all faiths and no faiths and people of goodwill can learn from this.'

Archbishop Stephen Cottrell, June 2022.

There are no prizes for guessing where that quotation comes from, or who it is about: throughout June Her Majesty the Queen has been at the centre of attention. Surely one of the most enduring images of the Jubilee weekend was the sight of her taking tea with a small bear from darkest Peru and it was oddly touching when Paddington Bear took off his iconic hat to thank her. You don't have to be any sort of Royalist to acknowledge that this is a person who deserves thanks, because she has been dutiful and faithful to the promises she made at the beginning of her life, throughout her very long life. In the words of St Paul, she has fought the good fight, she has finished the race, she has kept the faith.

It felt good, saying thank you at the Jubilee weekend, didn't it? Saying thank you to the Queen, of course, but also to the army of volunteers and the good will that led people to make things, donate things and give their time at the Jubilee fete. It was lovely to see our community get together and to see people enjoying themselves, after the long, cold winter of Covid: thank you, Loddon and Chedgrave Parish Councils. It was heart-warming, hearing about all the families who got together over the long weekend, seeing all of the smiles and happiness that actually being together brought about.

Perhaps one of the things that has come out of the pandemic is a sense of gratitude: gratitude for family and friends, for every bit of good weather and for our beautiful county. Gratitude expressed in those thank yous to the NHS, or to our fellow citizens as they carefully stepped away to keep a safe distance. To say thank you is to acknowledge the good things in life, it helps to make us happier. Dwelling on the bad stuff drags us down. Rejoicing in the good stuff buoys us up.

But what about the times when everything seems awful? What about the people of Bucha, as their city is destroyed around them? What about ourselves, when everything seems to be going wrong? Isn't saying thank you then just insincere, or silly? Well, St Paul advised the Christians of Thessaloniki to 'give thanks in all circumstances'.

This is a challenging and difficult time for many people, with the cost of living rising, a general feeling of insecurity and a war being fought on European soil. Looking for the things we are grateful for, every day, can change our mood and strengthen our mental health. Remembering to say thank you to every single person who does us a kindness can make them feel appreciated and valued. It's a small way to change the world, but it works.

Worship in the Chet Valley

You are welcome to join us at any of our services

Holy Communion is celebrated every Sunday at one or other of the Chet Valley Churches, either Book of Common Prayer or Common Worship, with an informal Holy Communion service once a month in Chedgrave.

Services of Morning Worship are held in Loddon and Hardley.

XPRESSIONS CAFÉ is on the first Sunday every month at All Saints, Chedgrave.

This is a relaxed and contemporary way of 'doing church'. Open between 10:00am and 12 noon, you can come and go as you please for coffee, cake, discussion, crafts, games, stories, reflection and much more.

All Together Worship is on the third Sunday every month at All Saints, Chedgrave, starting at 11:00am (January, March, June and September are followed by shared lunch).

All Together Worship is designed to be as inclusive as possible: a mixture of formality and informality; traditional and modern; activity and stillness. In short, we will attempt to provide a service which will have points of connection for both children and adults—indeed people of all ages and all backgrounds.

Last Sunday Praise is held on the last Sunday of the month at St John's: a chance to sing old and new Christian songs and worship together.

XTRA! is an exciting, informal service every Thursday after school in St John's Church. Refreshments from 3:15pm, service starts at about 3:45pm. Open to all; particularly suited to children and young people.

In Loddon and Chedgrave there is an opportunity to enjoy a chat over refreshments after the service, Covid restriction permitting.

There are toilets and baby-changing facilities at All Saints, Chedgrave and St John's, Loddon.

Families are welcome at all of our services but are particularly catered for on the 1st and 3rd Sunday of the month in Chedgrave.

Home Communion: If you would like home communion, because you are unable for any reason to get to a Sunday service, please contact the clergy or the Church Office and we will arrange for someone to bring communion to you.

Times and details of the services can be found in the centre pages of the magazine.

Thanksgivings & Baptisms

You are welcome to talk to us about thanksgiving and baptism (christening) for your children. Thanksgiving Services give an opportunity to come to the church and give thanks to God for the gift of a new child. Baptisms (Christenings) are an opportunity to acknowledge and celebrate the new life we have in Jesus and to welcome a child into God's family, the Church.

Baptisms and Thanksgivings are both held within Sunday morning worship in our churches.

News From Your Local Councillors

Queen's Platinum Jubilee: By the time you read this the fetes, parties and celebrations will be behind us, and I hope that everyone had a good time at the various events being staged around the area. The fete held on the playing field at the Jubilee Hall, Loddon was a roaring success, and it was lovely to see so many people having a fun day out. Thanks to all who came. I was pleased to be able to talk with many local people there and thank you for your suggestions on how the proceeds should be spent. I would really like to pay tribute to all the volunteers, who put in many hours to make this happen. Perhaps, if we do this again, we can encourage more people to join us. Many hands make light work.

The Staithe Footbridge: I am still awaiting some definite costings for the restoration of the footbridge. Like many others, the professionals we rely on to undertake this work, are incredibly busy. Be assured I will continue to pursue this project and will update you when I have some more news.

Speeding: Finally, I just want to mention the small number of people who think it's OK to speed through our villages. It's not OK! They are endangering the lives of pedestrians and other road users. When I see this, I wave them down and often get a two-fingered salute for my troubles. That's fine; it doesn't bother me but I'm sure it will bother them when they get a notice from the police. Yes, it is possible to report people for speeding and yes, the police do take notice. All I want is for drivers to slow down a little bit, is that too much to ask?

Please contact me at kay.masonbillig.cllr@norfolk.gov.uk if you have any issues or if I can help in any way.

Councillor Kay Mason-Billig

We're making good progress in our work with Loddon and Chedgrave Parish Councils to put together an Emergency Plan for our neighbourhoods, to ensure that help is available to every household. Please let me know if you might be interested in becoming one of the team of community wardens who will have a very important role to play if an emergency does occur.

I'd like to remind you that each District Councillor has a members' grant of £1000 for local causes. I've now allocated £600 of this. Please let me know if part of this could help your group.

And, as always, if you, or someone over-60 that you know, would like some help and maybe just some friendship, please phone ChetChat on 07876 050110.

I'm delighted to confirm that my next surgery will be 2:00-3:00pm Saturday 25th June; please drop in if I can help with anything, or just to say hello!

Please ring me anytime on 07733 323581 if I can help you, as many people do.

Loddon and Chedgrave Platinum Jubilee Fete: The parish council would like to thank the Loddon Parish Council Events Committee and the many helpers, stall holders, performers and sponsors who worked incredibly hard to put on a superb fete which was enjoyed by all. Congratulations and thank you!

Community Larder: The council has been approached about the possibility of setting up a “Community Larder” to assist those in need during this time of financial pressure. Any residents who feel there is a need for this in Chedgrave or who would be willing to help with this idea are encouraged to contact the Clerk, in confidence, to help establish the level of need.

Council Vacancies: The recent Jubilee Fete is a great example of the type of project parish councils are involved with and support. Please consider joining your local council and help support projects like this or something else which you think the local community would benefit from. No experience is necessary and training and support are provided. Please contact the Clerk if you have any questions.

Dog Mess: This is a problem which doesn't seem to go away! PLEASE PLEASE pick up after your dog! Poo bags can be placed in dog bins and ordinary litter bins.

Notes from Sisland

Hopefully by the time that you read this summer will have finally arrived, following the mixed weather of the Platinum Jubilee weekend and the heavy rain this morning. We are all looking forward to the many summer events and in Sisland we are busy planning for our popular Sunday Afternoon Teas.

We have been running this event for several years and it is always lovely to see friends, old and new, from across Norfolk and Suffolk who make the visit on a Sunday afternoon to enjoy a cup of tea and a slice of homemade cake in the beautiful surroundings. We can also provide space inside for those who want to enjoy the location without the inclement nature of the British summer. We will be open each of the four Sundays of August from 3:00-5:00pm on each Sunday.

This event is the main fundraising focus for Sisland each year, but it is also an important part of the fabric of the village. Many people from the village, and beyond, contribute to the provision of cakes each week, and, as such, it brings many of us together with the opportunity to catch-up.

Last month, I wrote about the importance of Sisland as an active promotor of conservation and wildlife in its churchyard. The churchyard is left uncut until the start of August to allow for the wildflowers to seed and provide the stunning display that we are treated to each spring. The cutting, preparation, and maintenance of it is another indication of the important contribution that various friends and locals make to the support of the church.

We look forward to seeing friends, old and new, over the summer.

Sisland Jubilee Tea

The afternoon of Saturday 4th July turned out to be warm and sunny which was fortunate, as our celebrations for Queen Elizabeth's Platinum Jubilee were held in the garden of Willowdale Barn. Residents of our small village were pleased to be together again after such a long time of social distancing. The event was very festive and colourful with red, white, and blue bunting put up, and some chose to wear colourful outfits for the occasion. Plates of savoury food and a delicious selection of decorated cakes, sponges and cup cakes were enjoyed with lots of cups of tea. The young ones played the traditional bowling game which has been used at many previous Jubilee celebrations and summer fetes at Sisland. Our grateful thanks go to Ian and Jo Newton for their kind hospitality.

Loddon Bell Ringers

Two of our members joined with others to ring in a Peal at All Saints, Necton on Saturday 23rd April to celebrate St. George's day. The 5040 changes of seven Surprise Minor methods took 2 hours 56 minutes to ring.

We have rung quarter peals of Plain Bob Triples at Swaffham, Pudsey Surprise Major at Ashill, 11 Doubles methods at Haddiscoe, Morning Exercise Delight Minor at Norton Subcourse, Surfleet Surprise Minor at Ditchingham and London Surprise Minor at Woodton.

We also rang for a wedding blessing at St. Peter's church, Brooke and have been helping with teaching new ringers at the St. Peter Mancroft training center in Norwich. We are also teaching some new ringers here at Loddon who are progressing well. We are always pleased to hear from anyone who would be interested in learning how to ring church bells

Struggling with Money? Local Charitable Funds available:

There are two local charities to help local people in need: Loddon Town Estate Trust (for people living in Loddon); and Chedgrave Church Discretionary Fund (for people living in Chedgrave or who are regular members of the congregation at All Saints). These have received a boost from monies raised by the monthly quiz at The White Horse during 2021.

The charities are only any good if people use them! In the past, money has paid for things like cookers and carpets. It has also gone towards solicitor's bills and rent. Please do not feel ashamed or embarrassed to call on the funds if you need them.

You can access the Loddon fund by contacting Ann Lumley on 01508 528141 or email: annlumley150@btinternet.com. The Chedgrave fund can be accessed by contacting Rev Alison, Rev David or the church warden, Roger Outlaw—contact details on p3.

Chedgrave Church Centre Hire

All Saints Church, Chedgrave has a lovely church centre attached to it which has been open for over 25 years. There are two rooms (one upstairs), a kitchen and a loo. There are wheeled tables which are easy to move and put up. It is warm even in the winter! It is available to book with a suggested donation of £8 per hour. ## Norfolk Home Library Service

Norfolk home library expands service and calls for new users and volunteers.

Calling all book lovers and digital masters! A popular home library service delivered by Royal Voluntary Service and the Norfolk Library and Information Service is looking to expand throughout Norfolk.

A new digital inclusion program is also being trialled, in which specially trained volunteers teach the service's clients how to access critical information digitally, and how to download books online. The expansion means that the Home Library Service is looking to welcome new clients, volunteers, and Volunteer Coordinators to the team.

Volunteers work alongside their local library to select and deliver books and other media to those who may find it difficult to leave the house, have mobility issues, or caring responsibilities. The service also provides regular, friendly social contact to check if clients are safe and well, to discuss reading and listening preferences, and to report any concerns to appropriate services as needed.

Volunteer Coordinators liaise with local libraries, manage a network of local volunteers to arrange book deliveries, recruit new volunteers, and build relationships with local community groups to promote the service. As part of the new digital inclusion program, Digital Service Coordinators may offer their skills in workshops to train volunteers to use various devices, apps, and programs that the service's clients may find challenging.

Alicia Stillman, Service Manager for Royal Voluntary Service Norfolk Home Library Service says: "For people who find leaving their homes problematic, the Home Library Service offers a vital link to the local library and a welcome connection with a friendly face. The Covid-19 pandemic has shone a light on the significant number of vulnerable adults living in isolation. During the last two years, it has also become apparent that many socially isolated people were not able to access vital information due to digital illiteracy. Instruction on downloading eBooks, accessing GP and Council services, and setting up video conferencing can often be more easily explained in person, in an informal setting, one on one. Through the new digital inclusion program, with the help of our dedicated volunteers, we hope to bring clients back to the activities they love, prevent further isolation, and provide companionship and support."

To sign up to the Home Library Service, please contact the Norfolk Library and Information Service on 0344 800 8020 or visit: libraries@norfolk.gov.uk to be added to a round.

To sign up to become a volunteer or coordinator of the Norfolk Home Library Service please visit the Royal Voluntary Service at: www.royalvoluntaryservice.org/volunteer. For further information about the roles, please contact Royal Voluntary Service Norfolk Community Service Manager Alicia Stillman: email: norfolkhl@royalvoluntaryservice.org.uk or 01603 397998.

Loddon Community Gym

It is the small things that make all the difference. Although everyone says the gym is a friendly place to exercise, there were whoops of joy (maybe a slight exaggeration) when members came in a couple of weeks ago to find that the equipment no longer faces the wall and that we can now look up and out as we peddle away. It certainly does make one feel that we are 'all in this together' and it is encouraging to see others doing their best to keep fit. The treadmills have still to face the wall for safety reasons. New members continue to trickle in and many of us are now having new programmes devised by Louise to reflect changing goals or simply for variety. The gym committee is working hard to improve and enhance what we can offer to members and new publicity will hopefully attract even more of you to join.

If you want to see the gym in action please call in, see for yourself and talk to Louise or go to our website: www.loddoncommunitygym.com for more information.

Loddon and District Local History Group

Our May lecture was given by Dr Tom Williamson on 'The History of Orchards in Eastern Anglia.' The talk was based on a heritage project he had been involved in where research had been carried out on 10,000 orchard sites. Only 1,600 were still orchards.

He began by informing us that in 1871 orchards were mainly found in western England to produce cider. It had been difficult for that area to make beer as malting barley needs a lower rainfall than is found in the west. Eastern England had become arable over the centuries but there is evidence that some country houses in East Anglia made cider with ordinary apples and a commercial enterprise, that became Aspells' cider, was started in the eighteenth century near Stowmarket.

Dr Williamson outlined the different kinds of orchards that developed in East Anglia:

- Farmhouse orchards which looked nice in the spring and the surplus was sold. The land was also used for bee hives and as grazing for sheep. Quite a few survive;
- Commercial orchards where growing fruit trees was the main business. By the 1970s the use of sprays and weed killers meant the orchards were not looking that attractive;
- Garden orchards at country houses had become integrated into their garden design since the seventeenth century. Sometimes they were placed near the house for aesthetic reasons as at Somerleyton or in kitchen gardens like you can see at Holkham Hall and Houghton Hall;
- Orchards attached to big institutions like mental hospitals in the late nineteenth century, particularly in Herefordshire.

By 1900 there are thousands of orchards in East Anglia and the period 1850-1950 is viewed as the Orchard Century. Population growth and the spread of the railways meant more food was needed and could be transported around the country. By the end of the nineteenth century the continuing agricultural depression, caused by American imports of grain, resulted in the government setting up schemes for smallholders to grow more fruit. More and more commercial orchards were created and by 1960 the eastern counties became equally important to the western ones for growing apples.

A big decline followed as more profitable ways of using the land were developed and, in the 1960s, the government gave money for 'grubbing' out orchards. Fruit trees in East Anglia have been reduced by 84% in the last six decades.

17th August: Georgette Vale: Robert Kett's widow gives her version of events in 1549.

All meetings held in St John's Lecture Hall, George Lane, Loddon, starting at 1:30pm. Admission £3.

Read Any Good Books Lately?

When the Sky Falls by Phil Earle

This children's novel was shortlisted for the 2022 Carnegie Medal. It's inspired by a true story of what happened to zoo animals in WWII, as the bombs started to rain down. Joseph is a young lad, charged with protecting Adonis the silverback gorilla, and to put an end to him if it all goes wrong. It's an emotional and exceptional book.

Birdcage Walk by Helen Dunmore

Set in Bristol at the time of the French Revolution, Lizzie is married to a property developer who has gambled on the market expanding, just as it begins to contract. Lizzie is from a family of radicals who thoroughly approve of the events happening across the channel while her husband views them with despair, and as the foreshadow of his changing fortunes. He also has a dark secret about the fate of his first wife and as Lizzie notices the change in his temperament, she begins to become fearful about his state of mind and intentions towards her.

The Eighth Detective by Alex Pavesi

This is such a clever book! I'm a big fan of the crime genre and this takes it to another level. There are murder mysteries within murder mysteries and the surprises keep on coming until the very end. The premise is that there are set rules to murder mysteries: there must be a victim; a suspect; a detective. The rest of it can be shuffled around to change it up and keep it interesting. Although it may sound complicated it's actually very easy to read and very much in the style of Agatha Christie with a modern twist!

The Giver of Stars by Jojo Moyes

Although Jojo Moyes is most famous for her books like Me Before You, I prefer her historical novels. Set in Depression-era America, Alice has married the handsome Bennett hoping to escape from her stifling life in England, only to be catapulted into an equally stifling small-town life in Kentucky. Her salvation comes from joining a group of women who are remote librarians, riding through the mountains delivering books to children and people who have no access to literacy. However, not everyone in the community welcomes their mission!

Nature Notes

As you read this, we will be halfway through 2022, though as I write it is still the beginning of June. We have blue tits nesting in the bird box we can see from our kitchen window, and I know that our sparrow nest box is also occupied. The common whitethroat that for the previous two springs has entertained us with its scratchy song has not returned this year. I finally caught up with a cuckoo on the 17th May as I drove along Cross Stone Street; it was flying over the fields. At the time of writing it is still the only one I have seen, though I have heard them regularly.

Rachel had one of those nature “wow” moments earlier in May when making her way to the car. She suddenly realised that there was a red kite flying overhead, gliding effortlessly. As I was following her, I was able to join in the experience. Then nearer the end of May while in Seething she had brilliant views of three grey partridges, two males and a female who were so caught up in their courtship duel that they were oblivious to her presence.

For me, going to Westleton Heath in the hope of hearing nightingales was one of the month’s highlights. Although these summer visitors tend to sing at their best late evenings and early mornings, they are usually vocal during the day as well. I had walked along a footpath with high hedges either side and caught snatches of nightingales singing. On reaching the end of the path I had to decide whether to return to the car via the road or retrace my steps. I thankfully chose the latter. Before I had walked a few yards a nightingale started in melodious song. It was so loud that even my dog was stopped in his tracks and stared into the undergrowth. Suddenly I caught sight of slight movement and there was the bird singing its heart out, close enough I could have reached out and touched it, (which I didn’t). An amazing experience to hear so many of these once common birds.

On the 18th May I had decided to go out birdwatching, either to Hickling Broad where there was a caspian tern or to RSPB Minsmere for a roseate tern. Before leaving I quickly checked what else was about and discovered that a white-tailed lapwing had turned up at Hickling, so my mind was made up. I was fortunate to see both the caspian tern and the white-tailed lapwing. The latter would normally be found in Iraq, Iran and Southern Russia, but this bird has been touring England for the last nine months, and I believe that Hickling is the furthest south it has come. Obviously, it was a first for me. In early June I did catch up with the roseate tern at Minsmere.

For anyone that is interested in learning more about wildlife, on the 30th July at Earsham Wetland Centre—their first free entry open day of 2022—called Wild Waveney. There will be more information about this event on their Facebook page.

As hopefully summer will bring with it warmer weather, make the most of it, get outside and take in all the beauty that is there. Nature, you know, is good for you!

Gardening Notes

From the Allotment—Andrew Milner

I confidently said in the June column that tender crops should be ok to plant out, only for a cold spell to hit around the Platinum Jubilee. I didn't lose anything, but it certainly set the squashes and courgettes back and I notice some people growing outdoor tomatoes took a hit. Goodness only knows what the weather will be like by the time you read this, but hopefully, you are all enjoying your fruit and veg harvest, busily picking and eating, freezing and preserving, particularly soft fruits like summer raspberries. It is well worth growing the autumn raspberry to keep this delicious fruit going as long as possible.

Once again, I had a poor crop of garlic as it was dry when it should have been wet and wet when it should have been dry. I guess the answer is plant more garlic bulbs to make up for their small size. New potatoes should be ready, and I start harvesting early when they are still young, tender and tasty. By the time they are finished the second earlies are ready. In my rotation leeks will go into the space left by the new potatoes. Also continue to plant successional crops and those vegetables that can be harvested in winter or will stand over it like leeks, kale or winter cabbage. There is still time to grow more beetroot, but I find as soon as it turns hot and no matter how much I water the spinach bolts.

From the Garden—Shirley Cross

The pond is finally full. When we had it dug in March we had no idea it wouldn't rain for weeks and weeks! The borders have been planted and although we have had deer, rabbits and a hare in the garden as yet the plants haven't been nibbled. I am still looking for a reliable peat free compost, some is just too woody and not all plants have thrived. A plant I am keen to add to the borders is Fuchsia Magellanica; it is a hardy bush growing to about two metres, happy in sun or partial shade. One variety has a local connection: Fuchsia Magellanica Lady Bacon with striking red, pink and purple flowers and small dark green leaves. Lady Priscilla Bacon was an avid collector of Fuchsias (and snowdrops) at Raveningham Hall. I haven't visited Raveningham Hall for a couple of years. Last time I came away with a large agapanthus and I know they usually have pelargoniums for sale so maybe time for another visit. The walled kitchen garden was also very impressive along with the stumpery (a 'rockery' of tree stumps).

July is the time to sit back and enjoy all your hard work in the garden and take notes for changes or new planting plans for next year. Local gardens open for charity are a good source of ideas and sometimes some unusual plants as the owners are often very keen gardeners. I hope to visit Wenhaston Grange this month, weather permitting of course.

End Piece

Appeal for Nature

Sadly, even during the 'No Mow May' campaign, large areas of grass, in public places as well as local gardens, are being cut to within an inch of the soil. It seems that the urge to 'tidy up' and 'make things look nice' is still a mind-set of many living here in our villages. Those who do leave areas to allow existing wild plants to grow are seen to be messy, lazy and even disinterested in keeping the place 'neat'. Therefore, I would like to make an appeal, not for your money or even for your time, but just to see it in your heart to leave things to themselves, and make a difference.

I have visited many villages where this has now become somewhat of a feature among the inhabitants. Wild flowers are allowed to exist alongside other pollinator friendly plants and even verges and roundabouts have not been cut. Of course, I am still aware that some maintenance is required to allow access to certain areas and cutting of grasses and wildflowers needs to be done at the end of the season, after seeding, to allow for growth next year. Please do think about what you are doing.

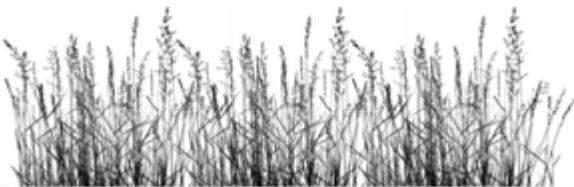

Go take a look at areas in places where the mower has been left unused and enjoy the buzz of insect life all around that is missing in most places. If you are making a trip to North Norfolk this summer and would like to get a taste of what a wildlife garden can look like, you can do no better than to visit Natural Surroundings on the Bayfield Estate; a truly inspirational place. Do please take a look at what they have done to what was once an open field. I can assure you that you will be amazed.

There are two wildlife groups in this area both trying hard to promote more care for the environment: Chet Valley B-Line and the South Yare Wildlife Group (SYWG). They are working in conjunction with one another and are trying their best to educate the general public on this important matter but they need you! The SYWG is hosting an Activities Day for Wildlife on 21st August, in The Jubilee Hall, Loddon. Watch out for further details. They will have various displays from organisations who are trying to 'do their bit'. I hope you will come along to discuss with them your doubts and fears and to hear what they have to say.

So, what I am saying is, please help us to care before it is too late.

Thank you.
