I will give rain in its season, the land shall yield its produce and the trees of the field their fruit. Lev.26.4

He will cover you with feathers and under his wings you shall find refuge. Ps 91.4
Milo helping to pick blackberries.
Three for him and none for us.
My first outing as Lockdown ended.

We came to the water gardens at Clifton and were entranced by the stillness of the heron and the wonders of the landscape with its wonderful trees, amazing sky and so much beauty surrounding us.

I reflected much on God’s hand who had shaped the world for us and related this to the hymn we shared on 6th September.

‘Near, far, it is all round,
The joy of God’s creativity;
Look, listen, the truth is found
In the clues the Creator gave us.’
I love birds, but don’t have many photographs of them as I’m not patient enough, nor still enough for long enough to get good shots. However this cheeky chappy, an Usambiro Barbet, posed conveniently on a bush and watched us having our lunch whilst we were on holiday recently. This bird is not renowned for its singing voice, but you can’t criticise its community spirit, as they love to chirp with a mate. One will produce a mechanical clicking noise, whilst the other joins in with a croaking wi-tuk!
Thank you for all your wonderful photographs

Happy Harvest AFC!
