The Living Well is the Diocesan Centre for Healing and Wholeness and has regular healing services as well as offering prayers for healing to individuals who are wounded emotionally, spiritually and physically.

The Living Well offers prayer support as well as Deeper Healing Days. Deeper Healing is the experience in which the Holy Spirit restores health to the deepest areas of our lives by dealing with the root cause of our hurt and pain.

Events include Quiet Days on different themes, with worship, some input, and silence in which to enjoy the space in the house and garden.

The centre can be used by those wishing to make a day’s retreat on their own with others. Refreshments available.

CONTACTS

Spiritual Accompaniment
Ashford Archdeaconry
Mrs Mary Chamberlin
Mary.franks@btinternet.com
07812 114604

Canterbury Archdeaconry
The Revd Lesley Hardy
lesleyhardy2@mac.com
01622 833263

Maidstone Archdeaconry
The Revd Robin Williamson
rhw.williamson@gmail.com
01622 682959

Counselling
Janet Bates  jbates@diocant.org
07872 986505

Richard Farrant  rfarrant@diocant.org
07554024776

The Living Well
Rvd Lorraine Apps-Huggins
contact@the-living-well.org.uk
Tel: 01304 842847

Website:
www.canterburydiocese.org/spirituality-and-discipleship

---

“He makes me lie down in green pastures;
he leads me beside still waters; he restores my soul.”
Psalm 23:2-3b

---

Cover photo by Dawid Zawila on Unsplash
The local parish is surely one of the most complex systems in society. Ministers and parishioners are concerned with physical matters—church buildings, churchyards; metaphysical concepts—love, joy, community; spiritual notions—prayer, worship, meditation; theology—God, Spirit, Jesus, the Body of Christ; as well as a host of things under the headings of tradition, hope, religious experience, relationships, life and death, canon law, and so on. Complexity and stress go hand in hand. Furthermore, ministry is a crucible: personality and character flaws that we all have, come to the surface in ministry in ways few other professions generate. All this means that those involved in Christian ministry and mission in the 21st century often work long hours with all kinds of people in ordinary and extraordinary settings.

How can we care for those who care? Burnout and family breakdown are constant threats to ministers, so this leaflet highlights some ways we seek to care for you and offer you resources for your wellbeing. You are not alone, please access help; we need to support one another in the Gospel.

Spiritual accompaniment encourages you to explore a close relationship with God. In the midst of a busy life, many people find it difficult to notice God’s actions in their daily affairs. Yet at the deepest level, all of us long for a more conscious experience of God’s presence and love.

In spiritual accompaniment, you reflect deeply on the experience of your daily life. Gradually, as you contemplate, you may begin to recognise God’s presence and grace in your life. You may come to realise how God’s spirit is truly with you every day and everywhere. You discover that God has been waiting for you to seek this closer relationship.

Spiritual accompaniment is really not about being ‘directed’. Rather, it is very much about being encouraged to draw closer to God. Spiritual accompaniment invites you to this relationship.

The Diocese gives assistance with the financing of counselling sessions. Your counsellor will discuss this further with you during your first session.

If you have questions or would like to make use of the Diocesan Counselling Service contact

Janet Bates, 07872986505, jbates@diocant.org
or Richard Farrant, 07554024776

Canterbury Diocese offers a counselling service for clergy, ordinands and their families in the Diocese. Counselling can be valuable if you are feeling that your professional or personal life has become out of balance in some way.

Lay employees of the diocese are eligible to access the service as below and Lay Readers via the Warden of Readers.

The service offers independent support, outside of and completely removed from Diocesan structures. Confidentiality is paramount.

Janet Bates leads a team of trained counsellors, experienced in working with people in Christian ministry. They have insights into the particular pressures faced by clergy and their families and can offer help in a wide range of difficulties. The counsellors abide by the British Association for Counselling and Psychotherapy Ethical Framework for Good Practice and receive regular independent supervision for their client work.

The Diocese gives assistance with the financing of counselling sessions. Your counsellor will discuss this further with you during your first session.

Website: www.canterburydiocese.org/spirituality-and-discipleship

Canterbury Diocese offers a counselling service for clergy, ordinands and their families in the Diocese. Counselling can be valuable if you are feeling that your professional or personal life has become out of balance in some way.

Lay employees of the diocese are eligible to access the service as below and Lay Readers via the Warden of Readers.

The service offers independent support, outside of and completely removed from Diocesan structures. Confidentiality is paramount.

Janet Bates leads a team of trained counsellors, experienced in working with people in Christian ministry. They have insights into the particular pressures faced by clergy and their families and can offer help in a wide range of difficulties. The counsellors abide by the British Association for Counselling and Psychotherapy Ethical Framework for Good Practice and receive regular independent supervision for their client work.

The Diocese gives assistance with the financing of counselling sessions. Your counsellor will discuss this further with you during your first session.

If you have questions or would like to make use of the Diocesan Counselling Service contact

Janet Bates, 07872986505, jbates@diocant.org
or Richard Farrant, 07554024776

Canterbury Diocese offers a counselling service for clergy, ordinands and their families in the

Lay employees of the diocese are eligible to access the service as below and Lay Readers via the Warden of Readers.

The service offers independent support, outside of and completely removed from Diocesan structures. Confidentiality is paramount.

Janet Bates leads a team of trained counsellors, experienced in working with people in Christian ministry. They have insights into the particular pressures faced by clergy and their families and can offer help in a wide range of difficulties. The counsellors abide by the British Association for Counselling and Psychotherapy Ethical Framework for Good Practice and receive regular independent supervision for their client work.

The Diocese gives assistance with the financing of counselling sessions. Your counsellor will discuss this further with you during your first session.

If you have questions or would like to make use of the Diocesan Counselling Service contact

Janet Bates, 07872986505, jbates@diocant.org
or Richard Farrant, 07554024776