Kindness

Link exploration:

In Monstropolis, best friends Sulley and Mike are the top scarers working at Monsters Inc. Their lives, however, are hugely disrupted when a human girl, Boo, enters their world. The monsters working at Monsters Inc must scare children to create power for Monstropolis. Sulley, however, is not sure that this is the best way of creating power. When Boo enters their world, Mike and Sulley want to protect her and are patient, gentle and kind to her, rather than scaring her as monsters at Monster Inc ought to. They realise that they can get more power from making Boo laugh rather than scaring her.

The Bible tells us that we are made by God and that God loves us. We should show this by being kind to, and gentle and patient with others. This makes us all happier and everything better for everyone. Just like when Mike and Sulley found that Boo gave them more energy when she laughed, than when she was scared. When we show the love that God shows us, we will inspire and encourage others to do the same.
