

Healing & The Uncontrolling Love of God

1. In what ways would you say either you or those closest to you have grown in recent times? Which area of your life feels 'healthiest' at the moment – your emotional, spiritual, intellectual or physical health? What do you put this down to?
2. To what extent do you agree with the statement that God would want to heal everybody?
3. Do you agree that love is uncontrolling? What's the difference between being protective & being controlling?
4. To what extent do you think God is in control of our lives? How does this relate to our free will? What would you say are the implications of your answers for the ways we might relate to God?
5. What kinds of factors, if any, would you say might be a hindrance to God's healing power being able to move? What might our role be in collaborating with God to bring healing to our own lives or the lives of others?
