

Hunger & Hope

1. Which public figures do you particularly admire & why?
2. Archbishop Desmond Tutu said, 'When people say religion and politics don't mix, I wonder which Bible they're reading.' To what extent do you agree with this statement, & why?
3. To what extent do you think the Government is responsible for ensuring people have enough food to eat? How does this responsibility tie in with that of local communities & us as individuals?
4. What practical lessons do you think we might take from this story of Jesus' feeding of the 5,000 for the way we engage with our own communities?

'All the believers were together and had everything in common. They sold property and possessions to give to anyone who had need.' (Acts 2:44-45)

5. To what extent might this model for community life still be relevant for us today? Has our experience of the pandemic made the 'Acts' model of church & community life more or less relevant, & why?
6. To what extent can these community principles be applied to the way a nation is governed?
