Letter from Bishop Ruth

The night has passed and the day lies open before us. Let us pray with one heart and mind'. Words with which we begin morning prayer.

September can often be one of the busiest months of our church calendar. I suppose it's partly because holidays have come to an end, children have returned to school, and we feel the need to get back into the swing of all those meetings! Somehow we feel we must have a PCC due to the summer break (never mind that the legal requirement is just 4 meetings a year); or we want to fit in a confirmation course before Advent; or there's all those appointment interviews to be had if we want someone to start in the new year.

Busy, busy, busy! Last month Bishop Peter spoke about our first diocesan strategic priority as putting mission and evangelism at the heart of all we do, 'living and telling the story of Jesus' love for us'. And if we are going to be able to fulfil that charge then we must underpin our 'living and telling' with prayer. Otherwise it will just be about giving busy people more things to do. As we enter into that conversation with Jesus so we will be able to discern what is important, where we should focus our efforts and what we may need to stop in order to do so.

Maybe you remember the story of Mary and Martha, welcoming Jesus into their family home. He evidently found their home to be a place of welcome and hospitality, somewhere where he could relax and be himself.

We were once invited to dinner with a couple who we had got to know through church. It was an amazing evening, a 7 course dinner, in effect Christmas with all the trimmings although it was summer. There were even silver candelabra! I found out later that Rose had never had folk round for supper before. She'd purchased the candlesticks specially. Over the next few years we got to know them well to the point where we all could relax over a coffee rather than be worrying about dropping peas on the carpet.

Prayer needs to become part of our daily bread and butter where we don't find ourselves self-conscious but entering into the welcome of family. Where sitting and listening with Mary or sharing our worries and concerns as Martha did becomes a natural way of living. And where we can hear the voice of Jesus encouraging and challenging us in our living and telling of his story of love.

Harvest Wisdom

Talk unbelief, and you will have unbelief; but talk faith, and you will have faith.
According to the seed sown will be the harvest. Ellen G. White

The law of harvest is to reap more than you sow. Sow an act, and you reap a habit.
Sow a habit and you reap a character. Sow a character and you reap a destiny.
James Allen

Team Rector

We continue to pray for our new Team Rector and appointment process. During August, our church wardens have met to discuss the contents of the parish profile. Rev Gilly Bunce has been getting us talking in our churches about what we would value in a Rector, what's special about our particular church and the sorts of things we would like to be able to do and see happen. During September we hope to have further consultations in order to state clearly what it is we want in our new Team Rector. Our aim is also to present the parish to applicants in as clear a way as possible, to explain the joys and challenges of being the Rector of Worle and to introduce our selves through the pages of the Parish Profile.

Parish Prayer

We are praying as much as possible for the process of appointing a new Team Rector and for all that goes on in our churches and parish. Silent Parish Prayer will take place twice at Wick St Lawrence Church on Saturday 3rd September. Please drop in any time between 10am and 12.30pm to offer up your prayers, a prayer guide and refreshments will be available. Prayer will also take place at St Martin's Church on Wednesday 14 September at 7.30—8.30pm

Abbe Hayward will be ending her time as our Finance Administrator on 5 September. Abbe has been in the role for two years and has done a great job co-ordinating the finances of our four churches and central costs. She will be greatly missed but we wish her well in her new job.

Harvest in Worle

This year harvest in Worle will be celebrated on two consecutive Sundays, at St Martin's and Mead Vale on Sunday 24 September and at St Mark's and Wick St Lawrence on Sunday 2 October. Each church will be holding special events and services, details of which are on the individual church pages.

St Lawrence Church, Wick St Lawrence

Can you sit still?

September begins with a morning of peace and quiet on Saturday 3rd between 10am and 12.30pm. This is also an opportunity to pray in silence for our parish. But how can you stay still? I was once asked. It's not easy. Our minds are busy and overloaded, we feel we need to be doing something. A good way to be still is to just sit. To place your feet firmly on the floor and feel them there, feel your bottom on the seat, your hands in your lap and your back supported. Just think about that, as one writer expressed it, "Come back to your body." Then breath in and out. Continue to feel your feet on the floor, your bottom seated, your hands in your lap, your back rested. If you can achieve two minutes, well done, it's a start. Mother Theresa said, "We must all take the time to be silent....especially those in who live in big cities ...where everything moves so fast. God is the friend of silence."

Harvest at Wick

Being a rural church, harvest is always a special time to celebrate and enjoy community at Wick St Lawrence. Our Harvest Festival is on Sunday October 2nd at the slightly later time of 11am. This will be followed by displays in church, conker competitions for children and adults, a simple lunch, games, Teddy Bear Parachute Jump and cream teas in the village hall. Do join us for some or all of our events, see timings below.

Harvest at Wick St Lawrence

Faith thoughts and stories

The Story of the Dead Goldfish

As a young boy I was best friends with my next door neighbour Patrick who kept a goldfish in a bowl in his kitchen. Sadly one day it died and we were both very sad. So we gave his fish a good funeral.

We made a little coffin from two foil pie trays and put the fish in it. Then we dug a shallow grave in his back garden, and covered it with soil. We stood and remembered his fish.

After 2 days, being curious children, we wanted to know what a dead goldfish looked like! So we dug it up and stared in fascination. We the repeated process several times over the next few days! It was disgusting, but it helped us understand life and death. That goldfish was absolutely dead. The life that it had swimming round the bowl was gone –there was no trace of it, only memories.

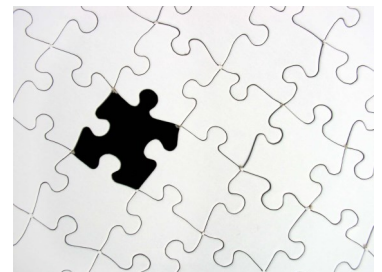

We all know that death is normal but it is very sad for us if somebody or something we love dies. As I think back to that dead fish I'm always reminded of the hope of life beyond death that we have as Christians through our faith in the death & resurrection of Jesus – what peace that brings us.

God gave me curiosity

I've always asked questions; taken ideas to pieces, not to destroy them but to understand. That includes my relationship with God, and 'How Everything Works.' My folk were OK with that. Some other Christians weren't. It was as if I had to leave my curiosity outside the door, not question, not think, just Believe! But if God gave me curiosity, God encourages me to use it. Mercifully it seems that I don't have to put all those pieces back together myself. God does it, always in new and surprising ways, which often makes me smile; and I'm very grateful!

There was always something missing....

I was raised as a Christian and went to Sunday School but I moved away from the church as a teenager. I always felt there was something missing in my life but didn't know what it was. Ten years ago I met someone who was a local Methodist preacher and fell into conversation with her. She encouraged me to go to church where I found myself in a retreat sessions. Then it hit me, I was missing God. I put my life in God's hands and basically said, "Do what you want with me." Although I suffer from varying health issues I know God is always there, ready to listen.

Can you put your story into words? Please let us know.

Then and Now, the Farm at Sainsbury's

Mike and Jean Collings married at St Martin's Church on an incredibly hot day in June 1957. After 10 years of married life, farming in Essex, Wotton under Edge, and Radstock, Mike applied for the tenancy of Apple Tree Farm on the edge of Worle for which he was successful and took up farming the land on Lady Day (25 March) in 1968. The fifty acres of farmland extended across the land that is now occupied by Sainsbury's, Priory School, North Somerset Courthouse, Macdonald's, Argos and Homebase.

Mike described where they lived as a lovely little farm backed by elm trees. The farm buildings, on what is now Apple Tree Court, housed a milking parlour, calving pens, a hay barn, sheds for machinery and a hay loft where the local Guides stored their equipment. The remnant of the farm wall can still be seen at the entrance to Apple Tree Court opposite the Summer House pub.

The farm land comprised seven fields on which dairy herds grazed and an apple orchard, located roughly where now Old Bristol Road ends near the roundabout by the Summer House. At the point where today you enter Sainsbury's from the Queen's Way there used to be a tributary of the River Banwell, with swans, ducks and good sites for fishing for Eels and Roach.

Being on the main road directly leading into Weston, before the diversion of the A370 and construction of the M5, Apple Tree Farm was ideally placed to sell apples from the orchard, along with home grown vegetables, strawberries, free range eggs and clotted cream. Many tourists in cars and coaches would pull in to browse and buy, although a rather smaller operation than today's Sainsbury's!

In 1975, when the farm was compulsorily purchased for the expansion of Worle, Mike and Jean moved on to farm in Frampton Cotterell. They retired back to Worle in 1990 where Jean spent a number of years volunteering at Worle Parish Office. The couple were regular attenders of the 8am service at St Martin's Church and occasionally at Wick St Lawrence, where Jeans family came from. This summer the couple celebrated their 59th wedding anniversary.

New Wine summer event in Shepton Mallet

Last month a number of us from St Mark's attended this annual event in Shepton Mallet and had a fantastic time. There were about 13,000 people from churches all over the West Country enjoying Christian preaching and teaching from a number of eminent speakers, attending workshops and various forums, the buzz was great. Talk about feeling closer to God! The worship at meetings was powerful and the children had a very good time in groups suitable for their age. If you're thinking of going next year, autumn is a good time to start spreading the cost by paying something off monthly. Find out how good it was by chatting to Chris, Jody, Dave or Lin Fortune. For info visit www.new-wine.org

Free Car Wash!

Chris & Jody Elms' Home Group will be offering a free car wash to passers-by in the church car park on Saturday 10 September between 10am and 12 noon. This is a simple act of generosity to show we care – come and have your car washed and spread the word!

Ability Sunday

On Sunday September 11th we will be taking part in Ability Sunday, a nation-wide event that encourages churches to think about the importance of welcoming those with disabilities into church. This is organised by Prospects Access to Life Group. As the group explains 'Society might want to divide us up into disabled and able, but in fact we are all made by the hands of a loving God who has given each of us distinctive abilities.' To find out more call Prospects on 0207 452 2000 or go to their website: www.prospects.org.uk/abilitysunday

Harvest at St Mark's Sunday 2 October, 10.30am

We will be welcoming the 5th & 6th Worle Brownies and 6th Worle Guides to St Mark's for our shorter All Age service as we celebrate Harvest together.

St Martin's Church

Gatherings....

We had two in August at the Vicar's house. The first was a picnic for all involved in Little Martin's. Because of the drizzle eleven children and six adults sat round a picnic blanket in the middle of the living room! But it was a chance for the adults to sit and chat whilst the children built dens, when it was wet, under the dining room table, when it was dry outside under a Crack Willow tree on Castle Batch. The second event was a fund raising coffee morning on a beautiful sunny day. Again, chances to have longer conversations than those snatched at the church door. Grateful thanks for the beautiful cakes, vegetables and gifts that were bought, and for Elizabeth Rooke's help with the 'everyone wins' tombola.

Helping..

We continue to be incredibly grateful for all the voluntary help we receive at St Martin's during the week and on Sundays. Can you help us too? We need folk on Sundays to welcome people, operate our VDU and sound system and serve refreshments (sometimes the most important conversations take place round the coffee table after a service!) Once every quarter would be fantastic. During the week the church is in constant use for weddings, funerals and school visits, can you spare an occasional hour to help us keep St Martin's in good condition? One of our cleaners said, "I enjoy being in here in the quiet, happy to keep up the beauty of this old church in the 21st century." Please contact our church wardens if you can help.

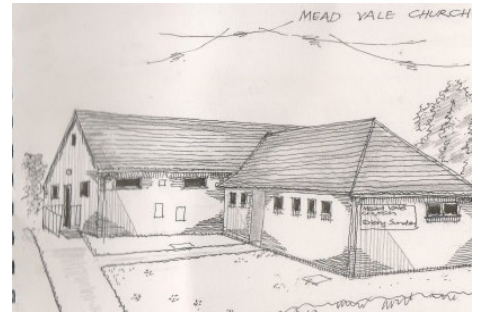

Harvest at St Martin's

Saturday 24 September we begin our Free Film Night showing 'The Railway Man' at 5.15pm, with refreshments for sale. Before that, at the request of our younger members, we will also be showing a family friendly film beginning at 3pm with popcorn and snacks for sale.

Sunday 25 September Harvest Thanksgiving Services take place at 8am and 10am with food contributions going to the Food Bank in Weston.

On Saturday 8 October we have a Harvest Gala Concert with Worle Wind

Mead Vale Church

Recently Sue Marshall joined our church family at Mead Vale and she would like to share the story of how she came to be at Mead Vale Church:-

“Around two years ago God spoke to me as I walked by Mead Vale Church and said I was to join. I ignored God as I was happy being in the Church I was in. Slowly things in my church changed and every reason I was there for was taken away.

God spoke to me about joining Mead Vale Church again. I prayed and God gave me lots of scriptures and signs. I knew I had to obey God and join Mead Vale Church. I started going in January of this year and it was the hardest decision I had to make. But over the last few months God has blessed me in so many ways, I feel I am at home here and my relationship with God is getting stronger and stronger day by day. God is the rock of our salvation!”

We are pleased and thankful that Sue was obedient to God and that she has joined us! In our sermon series that we have been doing recently at Mead Vale, we talked about Faith and Obedience. We live in a world that says “if it feels good do it” but for us as Christians it’s a case of “if God says do it do it, regardless of how you feel”. Follow God and your feelings will follow! And that’s what Sue did, she was obedient to God even though she didn’t want to join Mead Vale and now she loves being with us and God is blessing her obedience!

Harvest at Mead Vale

On Saturday 24th September we have our next outreach for “Harvest”. We gather in the small hall for prayer at 9.30 and will be handing out Harvest gifts to people in the community from 10am – 12 noon.

Our coffee morning is on Sat 24th too, from 10am – 11.30am in the small hall. A good opportunity to invite people in the community to come and join us for refreshments.
