Once a month we hold a more informal kind of service to cater for Christians who are perhaps new to the church and might be put off by formality. During these services, which are usually led by a Lay Worship Leader, instruments other than the organ are used and a small informal group may sing an anthem.

From October to March we also hold a Taize Service once a month. This is a candlelit and reflective service, with the music and chants led by the Taizettes. The Taizettes are a small group of chamber musicians creating and leading the mediaeval music for the chants.

The church is used for rehearsals by two choirs, other than the church choir:

- Pipers Choir rehearse on a Wednesday evening and hold concerts in church during the year.
- The St. Buryan Male Voice Choir (MVC), who own the quality grand piano in the church, also hold concerts in the church. Church musicians can play the piano with kind permission of the MVC.

St Buryan Church is also used as a venue for recording sessions and concerts of various kinds. Professional musicians have used the space, due to its excellent acoustics.
