A Christian Nation?

Our Prime Minister has stoked controversy by declaring that we are a Christian Nation. Fifty “liberals & humanists” have written a letter to the Telegraph to protest, and to claim such claims are outdated and divisive - but are they?

Surely no one can question the Christian Heritage in our Country. Walk down the main street of any village, town or city and you are likely to come across Churches of various denominations and magnificent Cathedrals in our cities. Indeed the majority of this country’s Listed buildings are Christian Religious buildings.

Look to education and you will see many schools of a Religious foundation and there are still many distinctive Church of England schools in our vicinity - including our own Parish, in addition to many Roman Catholic Schools across the country.

Our Law has been built upon Christian principles of justice, and until very recently people still swore their oaths on the Bible.

On the very flag that represents us as a Country are the three crosses of the United Kingdom - St George, St Andrew & St Patrick.

Our Constitution is Christian, with a Monarch who is Defender Of The Faith (A title granted Henry VIII by the Pope) and also Supreme Governor of the Church of England. Sessions of Parliament in the Commons still start with prayers led by the Christian Chaplain, and several Bishops of the Church of England sit in the Lords. Indeed, it was only a few years ago when Councillor John Fletcher was Chairman of Hambleton District Council that I was his Chaplain and began Hambleton Council Meetings with prayers, as well as hosting their Civic Service here.

Look to the world of Charities, and the Christian principles of loving your neighbour have been behind the formation of many of our National Charities. Some like Oxfam - founded by Quakers - and The (Church of England’s) Children’s Society keep a more secular profile now, to fit in with the present age, but Christians founded them as indeed Methodists were leading lights in the formation of the Trade Union Movement.

Abolition of Slavery, Prison Reform, Child Labour Reform, Relief Organisations... I feel a bit like the scene from The Life of Brian - What have the Romans ever done for us?

Without labouring the point further, our Christian Heritage and identity is there for all to see, and shouldn't be denied. It has helped make us all what we are today.

But are we still a Christian Nation today? Without doubt things have changed. There has been a rise of a sometimes aggressive Secularism alongside many other religions growing within this Nation. Because of our injunction to Love one another, other Faiths have by and large found welcome here when Christians in their home countries struggle. On State religious occasions you will now see representatives of other Faiths present in Westminster Abbey. Having a faith doesn't mean that you are being divisive. It can be the motivation to be good, loving, welcoming and working for justice.

There is a secular agenda that we need to be wary of. I experienced it recently. Our village Funeral Director mentioned a meeting at Teesside Crematorium where the new system of videos, slideshows and Internet links was being launched - all at great cost. (We do it free here, but that's another story.) I was amazed to find just one Methodist minister and the Hospital Chaplain present besides myself - and yet there were many Civil Celebrants there who had been invited. On checking with colleagues I was the only one who knew about it, despite the number of funerals we take.

Church attendances in general are not what they used to be, but the 300 people who came to Church here on Easter Day all chose to do so and were not coerced or forced in any way.

Our country and identity has gained much from the Christian faith, and we still benefit from its residual effects, though these are weakening with the years. Will we be better off without the Christian faith? There are some school Governors and Teachers in Birmingham who know that alternatives are not always as benign, as they have been driven out by hard line Islamists. I doubt our 50 liberals would have the same voice if they tried to be critical of the Islamic faith in many Muslim countries today.

The world is not becoming more irreligious, the opposite is the case. At present 75% of the world professes a religious faith, but by 2050 this is projected to be 80%. The Daily Telegraph has also reported the huge growth in the Chinese Church that is forecast to be the world's most Christian nation within 15 years.

Faith isn't dead or irrelevant, but more important in the world than ever, so be proud of our Christian heritage that has fostered so much good and tolerance, and stand up for it.

Chasing Monkeys

What do chasing a monkey, waiting for the kingfisher and W. B Yeats poem "The Lake Isle of Innisfree" have in common?

All (and so much more) can be found in a box of surprises opened by Father Kevin from Ampleforth Priory when he acts as a guide to help open a door into a time of quiet prayer.

On Thursday June 26 from 9.30am – 1.00pm Father Kevin will be at St. Margaret's R.C. church to guide a morning on contemplative prayer. There will be more details about the morning later but if you are interested please put the date in your diary now.

Thank you

from Jane Robson – Trainee Reader

I have now completed my three months placement at Great Ayton and Newton under Roseberry. I would like to take the opportunity to say a very big thank you to everyone for the warm welcome you have given me and the opportunities you offered to let me learn and try some of the things which are quite different to practice in my home church. And when I say everyone – I mean everyone. I have received encouragement and support from the whole of both churches – from the clergy and Readers, the PCC members, those in different serving roles and ‘ordinary’ members of the congregation. Thank you all, especially to those brave souls who had the courage to offer constructive criticism as well as praise; I pray that I will be able to take your comments on board and do things better next time. And one final big thank you to Paul for agreeing to host me on my placement and helping me to gain the experience I needed at this stage in my training.

You have all made me feel a part of the church and I will be sad to leave you; Dianne Colbert was right when she told me I would enjoy being with you, but as I will be just the other side of the Eston Hills I hope I will see some of you again. It is now time for me to return ‘home’ to Eston with Normanby as I complete my studies and prepare for ministry as a Reader after my licensing in York Minster in November. I pray God will bless you and the work you are doing to serve him and the people in the community.

May 18th – A Different Service!

There will be no 9.15am Service on Sunday May 18th. In its place we are hoping that as many people as possible will attend a service of Praise and Party (which will include the choir and Sunday School) at 3pm, followed by Afternoon Tea in the Hall.

We will particularly welcome those who find an early morning service difficult to attend and hopefully can, on this occasion, provide transport for everyone who needs it. Please phone Geoff (01642 722979) if you need a lift or can offer one for this service only

There will be a list at the back of the church to sign if you can provide small sandwiches or little cakes for the Afternoon Tea.

Please give your support to this service which is much appreciated by those who often cannot be regular attenders.

THE CHILDREN'S SOCIETY

The recent Soup Lunch at the end of March was very busy and successful - £651 was raised on the day, which is very commendable.

The next event on the agenda is the "Cake Bake" on the morning of Saturday, 10 May, near the Arcade on High Green. Any baked donations will be extremely welcome

Jancie Brown

Mothers' Union News

What an entertainer in Bill Masters! He certainly knows his Gilbert and Sullivan. We had to sing for our tea also! A good, entertaining afternoon was enjoyed by all.

Next month, May 6th, it is Arm Chair Exercises with Ann Coppwick. So I hope all are feeling fit. There will be no Communion Service at 1:30 this time as Paul is unavailable.

The Village Fete is on Saturday 14th June this year. The MU will be holding the usual 50p children's stall so any donations worth no less than 50p please will be gratefully accepted for our stall. (i.e. sweets, bubbles, games, books etc.)

CHRIST CHURCH MEN

Thursday 8th May at 7ish in the Royal Oak.

I'm really pleased to be able to tell you that Peter Warry, our Diocesan Secretary, has agreed to join us for our meeting on Thursday 8th May.

Those of us who have heard Peter speak in a professional capacity (as York Diocesan Secretary) will be aware of his depth of faith and commitment to Christ.

Peter will be speaking to us in a personal capacity about his Journey of Faith; how his faith has affected his life and work; how he has decided to respond to God's grace.

It promises to be a great evening, please put it in your diaries today (and if there's already a competing engagement perhaps you could change it?)

New Custodian for All Saints Church

We are delighted to announce that Robin Hazell has kindly accepted our invitation to become the next Custodian of All Saints Church, following the retirement of Roger Arkell.

Some of you may recognise Robin from his role singing at The Alternative Service and others will know him already as one of All Saints Church Guides.

Great Ayton is unusual - although not unique - in having two Parish Churches, with one of them being both Grade I Listing and a visitor attraction that brings people from across the world because of the Captain Cook connection.

The Custodian role has been a great benefit to the Churchwardens, who are still legally responsible, in having a person interested in helping maintain both the fabric and witness of All Saints. We wish Robin well in his new Role.

Our retiring Custodian, Roger Arkell, was presented with a print of All Saints Church dated 1850, as a small memento by Ken Taylor, Church Treasurer.

The covers and cloths in All Saints Church have also been renewed, thanks to two of our Guides, Mary Rogers and Colleen Skerry, who organised it.

The needlework was generously done free of charge for All Saints by local dressmaker, Sylvia Thurbron.

Our thanks to all three ladies who appear by the new Altar cover in the order mentioned in dispatches.

Our Churchwardens

On Easter Day our new Churchwardens, recently elected at the Annual Church Meetings in both Great Ayton with Easby and Newton under Roseberry, were received into Office in Church.

We do this to celebrate this role in Church and to acknowledge what they do before the whole congregations. The Churchwardens are officially sworn in at the Archdeacon's Visitation in May.

At Christ Church we welcomed Vicki Nath as our new Churchwarden alongside Martin Simmons, who is returning for his second year of Office.

We thanked retiring Churchwarden, Rosemary Wheway, with flowers and book tokens, as she will need something to do in all her spare time!

At Saint Oswald's in Newton under Roseberry we welcomed back our existing Churchwardens, Maureen Rider and Paul Carter, who were presented by Jancie Brown, Parish Treasurer.

Our thanks to them all for taking the work and the responsibility. We are most fortunate in the calibre of people we have filling these roles.

Would you like to meet with others in a small group to learn more about our Christian Faith?

The Stork That Brought the Crowds Out

A newspaper report of November 12, 1938, recalls how the visit of a stranger to the village caused crowds to gather - and large numbers of schoolchildren to be late for school.

"For some days," says the report, "a stork has made its headquarters at Aireyholme Farm, but now it has apparently settled at Tile Sheds Farm. Undisturbed by the passing traffic, the bird fraternises with the farmyard poultry, crows, rooks and sparrows, in the company of which it feeds.

"Every day large crowds of observers may be seen peering over the hedge and dozens of films have been exposed. By night it roosts on one leg on the roof of a Dutch barn.

"Interest is not encouraged by the farmer, whose fences suffer from the depredations of the stork stalkers. Nor by teachers. It is rumoured that on a recent day, no fewer than 40 were walloped for being late to school as a result of their interest in the stork"

One wonders how long the stork remained at the farm – and whether any of the many photographs obviously taken of it still exist. And are any of those who were "walloped" for being late to school still around ?

Preparing for War

On September 30, 1938, it was reported that "a large number of ARP volunteers were kept busy until a late hour in the British School, Great Ayton, in the assembling of gas masks.

"The work was carried out under the direction of Mr Noel Kitching, superintendent of the St. John Ambulance Brigade. The enthusiastic response to the appeal for workers was evidenced by the fact that workers ranged from Mr George Johnstone, who saw action in the Boer War, to young boys just over school leaving age. A number of women workers were also present. The distribution of masks will be completed within the next day or two."

War tears lives apart

Love can help piece them back together

'The Lord is my rock, my fortress, and my deliverer... in whom I take refuge.'
2 Samuel 22:2-3

For a growing number of people across the world, the horror of war is a part of daily life. Right now, fuelled by the devastating violence in both Syria and the Democratic Republic of the Congo, the numbers of people driven from their homes by war is on the rise.

It stands at 42 million people – an appalling statistic and a stain on the conscience of humanity. We can't turn our backs. We must act now.

The good news is that your church can make a real difference.

Could you provide the gift of hope?

£15 could provide blankets for refugee children to protect them from bitter night-time temperatures.

£40 could provide enough good quality and nutritious food for two refugee children for a month.

£150 could help us provide specialist emotional support for a child deeply traumatised by the horror of war that they've witnessed or experienced.

Be an instrument of God's peace.

Give, act and pray this Christian Aid Week.

Many people fleeing the violence in Syria have ended up in Lebanon, where Christian Aid is supporting partners to provide emergency care and assistance to families in need.

The Last Laugh

A very cranky old woman was arrested for shoplifting at a grocery store.

She gave everyone a hard time, from the store manager to the security guard to the arresting officer who took her away, complaining and criticizing throughout the process.

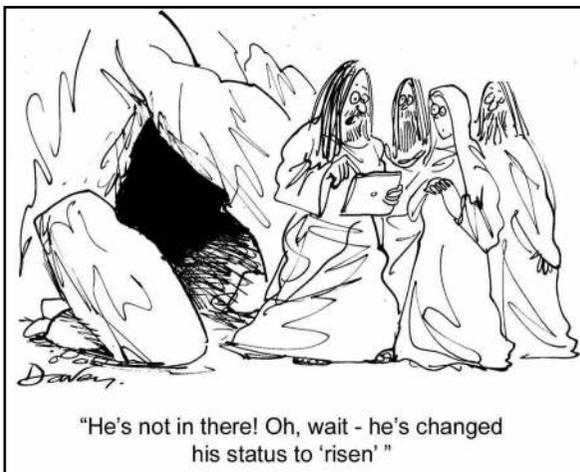

When she appeared before the judge, the judge asked what she had stolen from the store. The lady defiantly replied, "Just a stupid can of peaches."

The judge then asked why she had done it. She replied, "I was hungry and forgot to bring any cash to the store."

The judge asked how many peaches were in the can. She replied, "Nine, but what do you care about that?"

The judge patiently said, "Well, ma'am, because I'm going to give you nine days in jail -- one day for each peach."

As the judge was about to drop his gavel, the lady's long suffering husband raised his hand and asked if he might speak.

The judge said, "Yes, what do you have to add?"

The husband said, "Your Honour, she also stole a can of peas...."
