A Window with a Message

In the Millennium year 2000, we marked the occasion in Christ Church by installing a beautiful new Rose window in the West end of Church. It is truly wonderful, bearing many Christian symbols all held together by the triangle in the centre representing the Trinity. Go into Church at different times of day and you always see something new. Early morning it is a deep rich brocade, and at evening it lights up the choir with blue rinses as the sun shines right through. The dove of the Spirit is always the first thing to appear and the last to disappear. Standing behind the altar, as I do, it is my constant inspiration, as that is what I look at all the time.

Of late it has been giving me a more unsettling message. When we installed it, as well as raising funds for the window, we also raised enough to build an extension to an Armenian Evangelical Church in Aleppo in Syria to share our blessing. We did this through The Barnabas Fund, who support persecuted Christians, for even back then under Assad, times were hard. We did see photos of them proudly showing off their new extension, although we were never given direct access to them, as they lived in fear of the Secret Police.

Having seen the state of Aleppo in the news recently, living under Assad appears more like a Sunday School picnic compared with the situation today. Aleppo stands in ruins after constant bombardment, and the Christians have fled their Church which is now rubble. Where are they now, and what are they doing? As I look to our West window, lifting the bread and wine of Holy Communion up to God, those questions lay with me, for here in Christ Church we had some connection with them, however fragile. That is what communion is all about.

The Christian faith isn't about being comfortable and self satisfied, but standing together with those going through difficulties, for at the heart of our faith is the Trinity - the Godhead of Father, Son and Holy Spirit - that lives together in unity. We cannot forget our fellow Christians in Syria, and now those in Iraq who most probably face a similar fate. How can we help hold people together? How can we help bring forth reconciliation and peace?

Please pray for them, and for all affected by the violence and barbarity raging in the Middle East. No-one will come out the victor, even if one side eventually wins, for so many terrible things have been done that all will become victims.

Pray too for the Muslim families in this country who have lost sons to go and fight, for whatever happens, they will never come back the same. We know from our own experience with our troops the devastating effects of Post Traumatic Stress, and we fight with rules of engagement to ensure as far as possible that humanity is preserved. In Iraq this doesn't appear to be the case. Memories do come back to haunt you.

We have just remembered the 70th Anniversary of D-Day and are about to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the outbreak of the First World War, when the world saw carnage on an unprecedented scale - and both of these conflicts were predominately in Europe. We know the folly of war and the terrible costs to all, and that when fighting is finished, talking has to begin. If we want to celebrate the peace won in both those wars, let us work for it today.

On Sunday 3rd August at 4.30pm on High Green there will be a simple service with Revd Paul Peverell, Vicar of Great Ayton, to acknowledge Britain entering the war on 4th August 1914. Do join us and pray for peace.

Marwood School Sports Day

We were blessed with a beautiful and sunny afternoon for School Sports in the Vicarage Garden. The children enjoyed themselves with a large variety of sports. "It's like being in an Athletic stadium" said one parent.

We are fortunate in having such a good venue.

Mothers' Union News

At our June meeting Malcolm Elvidge spoke about "a remarkable lady" that being Hannah Hawkswell. He told us about how she lived on her remote farm up in the moors in Middleton in Teesdale. A very austere life with no electricity or hot running water!! Imagine that now!!

Six of our members attended the Deanery Service on the 10th June at Yarm. Rev Pev stepped in at the last minute to give the address instead of Canon John Ford, whose wife was in hospital. He spoke of all the decisions one has to make through life and how we should give generously of our gifts to help others-not just financially. Through worship we can also help each other. We wish Mrs Ford a speedy recovery.

The Village Fete was on the 14th June with lovely fine weather after the dull morning. Our children's stall raised £104.20 for Mothers' Union funds. We are very grateful for all the help, donations and prizes given and this was most appreciated. Thank you.

The next Meeting will be on Wednesday 2nd July at 2.00pm when Jennifer Local, our Deanery President, will come and discuss with us the future of the Branch. As many members as possible please try to attend this meeting.

There will be no Communion Service before the meeting at 1.30pm as Paul is unavailable.

The next Meeting will be on Wednesday 3rd September when the Revd Ann Heading will talk about Life before Ministry. The meeting will be preceded by a short Communion Service at 1.30pm in Church.

Great Ayton Fete Day

William Hague MP, and his bird is Helen Channing, headteacher of Roseberry School dressed as the pigeon post.

To celebrate this victory, a Fete was held on High Green, and every two years since. This year our Fete was opened once again by our local MP, William Hague, who managed to find some time from a frenetic schedule as Foreign Secretary to come to our Fete. Amongst the many Tombolas on the Green, the other competition was spotting the security men. I hope I am not giving away any state secrets, but the trick was to look for the strangers eating Petch's Pies.

The Parish Council put a tremendous amount of work into organising the Fete and should be congratulated for their efforts. Village organisations rally round to run stalls and build floats to bring colour and enjoyment to the occasion.

Unfortunately we only had two floats this year from Marwood and Roseberry Schools. This was probably down to the health and safety fiasco last time. As the Parish Council had asked me to do the announcing, I wasn't able to get any photographs. A shame, as they were both excellent with a lot of work put in. Well done to all who worked hard in making them.

The unenviable task of judging the floats and Fancy Dress fell to Peter and Carol Morgan, who avoided the pitfalls experienced by Yorkshire Vet, James Herriott, when he chose the Squire's son. They awarded a diplomatic Joint First to the Floats and chose Captain Cook to win the Fancy Dress.

Music was once again provided by North Skelton Band, and to prove that men can't multi task, I haven't got a photo of them either!

We had lots of stalls around the Green raising funds for many village groups and organisations. Some sold cakes and biscuits, and many others held the tried and tested Tombola, including the Guides and Scouts.

Worthy of special mention was the super Steam Roller, Pride of Marwood, that led the Parade, which had been restored and repainted - and driven by the Bone Family. This was joined by several vintage tractors pulling the floats as rules and regulations forbid agricultural tractors on roads for this short journey as they use the wrong sort of diesel!

Well done to all for making a great day and super 40th Anniversary of remaining in Yorkshire

St Oswald's Day Service & Picnic

Join us in celebrating our Patron Saint, Oswald King of Northumbria, on Sunday 3rd August at 11am at St Oswald's Church Newton under Roseberry.

After the service we share a picnic together in the Memorial Garden.

A Great Success

Saint Oswald's Church was packed with a very appreciative audience for its annual Concert. This year we welcomed Martin Dack on piano, with singers Miranda Francis and David Carter singing arias and songs from the shows.

As well as being a brilliant pianist, Martin also sang many songs himself, some of them very humorous like Mrs Beamish, the Richard Stilgoe classic.

Just before the second half got under way we were treated to something completely different, with home grown group The British Onions playing the Jazz Number, Green Onions.

The group comprise of Paul Carter on piano, Mia Mack on Sax, Emily Carter on flute, David Mack on Drums and Andy Brunton on bass guitar.

The evening was a great success, and with a wonderful raffle, raised £1,024 for Church Funds.

Our special thanks to Neil Waters for kindly providing a portaloos for the evening, and to David and Joan Carter for their very generous support.

We are also delighted to report that the new Sound System has been installed at Saint Oswald's Church. This includes a Loop System for hearing aids. Now the celebrant has to remember not to raise their voice when they turn to face the altar! One worshipper commented that they had heard every word of the service.

The wall to the Memorial Garden has been removed with the ground landscaped between the two different levels. We will feature a photograph later when the handrails have been installed, but the area looks a lot better.

The Undeserving - a St Lynas story

The brothers were always complaining that St Lynas was a soft touch, and that he gave away too much to people who didn't deserve help.

'My dears,' he said, 'Everybody helps the "deserving poor", it's our job to help the "undeserving poor".'

And he pointed to the man the Good Samaritan helped. 'That bird brained travelled the dangerous road from Jerusalem to Jericho by himself,' he said.

'If ever there was a case of a fellow deserving everything he got - it was him! But he still got helped.'

'I'm just doing likewise

Not Always in Harmony

Culled from correspondence columns:

A vicar who was asked to give the address at a service for the deaf decided after a few minutes to pause to give the person signing time to catch up. No-one realised that he knew sign language and he was amused to note that the interpretation of his wise words was: "As soon as he says something interesting I'll let you know."

Organists apparently can have a mischievous streak. At one poorly attended harvest festival in London the congregation had donated the usual cans of soup, vegetables and fruit etc. For the final voluntary, the organist improvised on "Yes, we have no bananas" - and was promptly sacked.

One organist, after a particularly boring sermon, pulled out all the stops and played the Hallelujah Chorus. Another settled, more subtly, for You Shall Go Out With Joy.

At another church, if the organist thought the sermon was going on too long, he would switch on the air pump.

One organist pondered over what to play at the end of a funeral service and settled on "Sheep Shall Safely Graze." Only afterwards did he discover that the funeral had been that of a butcher.

A rector wrote that he was taught two things at theological college -
1. Jesus is the Son of God, and 2. Never offend the organist..

The Church must encourage the critical element in its members. If it fails to do so, then the individual will not be able to integrate religious belief with everyday experience or, put in other words, God will be excluded from most of the individuals life until religion comes to be considered a private but harmless eccentricity of a minority.

A Well Earned Rest

May I be among so many to wish Jennifer Roberts a very happy retirement and many years of enjoyment.

Jennifer is a great asset to the village and indeed, the community. Besides doing 16 years as Office Secretary and running the Parochial Hall, with other duties thrown in, Jennifer was also a Library Campaigner. Away back in 2010 Jennifer was, and is, the backbone of keeping the Library going in Great Ayton which is now known as the Discovery Centre. If it had not been for Jennifer and her many hard working colleagues Great Ayton today would not be enjoying the facilities of a Library.

Jennifer, having cut her cake at a small leaving presentation

Thanks Jennifer and your colleagues, for all the hard work you have endured.

Happy Retirement.
