Pastoral Help

During the Coronavirus emergency.

There are measures in the pipeline, being discussed by the local churches and community groups, to offer help. In the meantime, if you or someone you know are self-isolating at home, and do not have anyone you can turn to for assistance with shopping, picking up medicines and so-on, then do contact our Pastoral Team. Contact details are at the front of the magazine.

Coronavirus Advice from the Police

Calls to the police non-emergency 101 number are now free of charge following a public campaign. During this global health emergency, police forces are dealing with unprecedented calls and demand and there are other ways to receive help, including the force's website. We would like to take this opportunity of thanking the public for their continued support in these challenging times.

However, we would also reiterate the importance of using the 101 number wisely.

Coronavirus (Covid-19): We're asking you please to only call 999 if it is an emergency and 101 if it is urgent. If you can, use our online services. If you're looking for information about the government instruction to stay at home and how that may affect you, you'll find guidance on Gov.uk (<https://www.gov.uk/coronavirus>).

The Flag

We normally fly the flag for special occasions. For the duration of the emergency, we will keep the flag flying as a visible sign of hope and love for our local community.

You can see who it is flying for by visiting the flag page on the parish website. If you would like the flag to be dedicated to someone you care for, on one of the unclaimed days, then please make a donation to the local Foodbank, and let us know by emailing flag@motttramparish.org.uk. We will put the name on the flag page.

Holy Days - Passion Week

Reprinted by permission from 'Parish Pump'.
This helpful overview is an edited version of an article that comes from: <https://christianity.org.uk/article/the-first-easter>
 (Editor of Parish Pump)

5 – 12 April - Passion Week

The events of Easter took place over a week, traditionally called Passion Week.

It began on Palm Sunday. After all his teaching and healing, Jesus had built a following. On the Sunday before he was to die, Jesus and his followers arrived at Jerusalem. The city was crowded. Jewish people were arriving from to celebrate Passover. This commemorates how they had escaped from slavery in Egypt nearly 1,500 years earlier. Jesus rode into the city on a young donkey. He was greeted like a conquering hero. Cheering crowds waved palm branches in tribute. He was hailed as the Messiah who had come to re-establish a Jewish kingdom.

The next day they returned to Jerusalem. Jesus went to the temple, the epicentre of the Jewish faith, and confronted money-changers and merchants who were ripping off the people. He overturned their tables and accused them of being thieves. The religious authorities were alarmed and feared how he was stirring up the crowds.

On the Tuesday, they challenged Jesus, questioning his authority. He answered by challenging and condemning their hypocrisy. Later that day Jesus spoke to his disciples about future times. He warned them about fake religious leaders; the coming destruction of Jerusalem; wars, earthquakes and famines; and how his followers would face persecution.

By midweek the Jewish religious leaders and elders were so angry with Jesus that they began plotting to arrest and kill him. One of Jesus' disciples, Judas, went to the chief priests and agreed to betray him to them.

Jesus and the 12 disciples gathered on the Thursday evening to celebrate the Passover meal. This is known as the Last Supper. During the evening, Jesus initiated a ritual still marked by Christians – Holy Communion – which commemorates his death. Jesus broke bread and shared it and a cup of wine with his disciples.

Judas then left to meet the other plotters. Jesus continued to teach the others and then went outside into an olive grove to pray. He even prayed for all future believers. He agonised over what was to come but chose the way of obedience. The Bible book, Luke, records him praying, 'Father if you are willing, take this cup from me; yet not my will but yours be done'. Minutes later Judas arrived with soldiers and the chief priests and Jesus was arrested.

PAUSE...

The world was spiralling out of control. The speed of life was the ultimate goal:
How much can I do? How rich can I get? How far can I go so that my needs are met?
Our lives like our roads, so busy it seems. It's all about me, we all have our dreams.
That's just how it is, there's no other way. Everyone does it- we live for today!
Our planet is dying, our children confused. Families are broken, hurt and abused.
No time to chat, to play or to see. I'll just join the rat race, get rich and get free.

We'll make our own rules, I'm god of my life –
But the meaningless speed and turmoil and strife
Made us long for much more. For this I was made?
Where's God in the mess? The hope starts to fade.

We cry out to God, but do not hesitate. We don't stop to listen, too busy to wait.
The sky is polluted, the forests cut down, the children are hungry right here in our town!
Where's the good news? Who'll suffer the cause?

We cry out to God...
And

Then God Pressed

PAUSE

The roads are now empty, the shutters are down, streets are deserted in country and town.
Life as we know it has started to slow, and into the silence there's one thing I know:
God never changes, He is very near. He's silently waiting, He loves you so dear.
His masterpiece painted each day in the sky... but we had not noticed as we hurried by.
A bouquet of flowers on tree and on lane. Just open your eyes- He's healing your pain.
In this moment of stillness you are not alone. Another soul waits on the end of a phone.
A moment of peace; a kind act of love: the birds are still praising their Father above!
We pray for our nurses, those on the front line, those who are suffering, that they will be fine.

Let's give what we can, to those who are poor.
Let's show God's love, then show it some more.

When we get back to 'normal' to make our ends meet,
Let's not forget those who live on the street...

Let's love one another and make time to just 'BE'.
Let's PAUSE and show Jesus to each one we see.

BY TRACY MORGAN

Crows in Spring

The Crow will tumble up and down
 At the first sight of spring
 And in old trees around the town
 Brush winter from its wing
 No longer flapping far away
 To naked fen they fly,
 Chill fare as on a winter's day,
 But field and valley nigh;

Where swains are stirring out to plough
 And woods are just at hand,
 They seek the upland's sunny brow
 And strut from land to land,
 And often flap their sooty wing
 And sturt to neighbouring tree,
 And seem to try all ways to sing
 And almost speak in glee.

The ploughman hears and turns his head
 Above to wonder why;
 And there a new nest nearly made
 Proclaims the winter by.

John Clare

John Clare (1793 – 1864) was the son of a farm labourer. He became known for his celebrations of the English countryside and sorrows at its disruption.

Teddy

I have a little teddy bear,
 It sleeps with me at night
 And in the morning when I wake
 It always hugs me tight.

I have a little rabbit too,
 He also sleeps with me,
 And in the middle of the night
 They fight,
 And wake me up you see.

Master Channon Collinge
 (This comes from an old schoolchildren's book dated 1926 with no details about the poem except that it was composed by a young child)

The Eagle

He clasps the crag with crooked hands;
 Close to the sun in lonely lands,
 Ring'd with the azure world he stands
 The wrinkled sea beneath him crawls;
 He watches from the mountain walls
 And like a thunderbolt he falls.

Alfred Lord Tennyson
 (1809 - 1892)

(White-tailed sea eagles are gracing the skies of southern Britain for the first time in 240 years after six eaglets were released on the Isle of Wight.)

REST BLESSING

Bless Thou, O God, the dwelling,
 And each who rests herein this night;
 Bless Thou, O God, my dear ones
 In every place wherein they sleep;
 In the night that is to-night,
 And every single night;
 In the day that is to-day,
 And every single day.

A few comments that have come our way:

On housework: "It's really great; we don't go out anywhere so there's no need to do any ironing".

On video-conferencing: "I see my team's kids sitting at the kitchen tables doing their homework. Some of them are actually in their school uniforms; to keep them in the routine." (An excellent idea - it also keeps them from wearing out their weekend clothes.)

On supermarkets (from our correspondent in central London): "Our smallish, very busy supermarket near King's Cross has restricted customers' shopping time to 10 minutes. Most people are being really good about it but some were complaining noisily that they couldn't possibly choose their shopping in 10 minutes. Don't they know that the staff put themselves at risk every day that they come in to work?"

On hairdressing: "I've just had my hair cut by a nervous amateur. We both ended up laughing so much I nearly got the scissors in my ear, but at least I can now see out from under this beatnik fringe."

On neighbours: "It's good to see everybody coming to their front doors at 8 o'clock every Thursday evening to applaud key workers. I have neighbours who work in the NHS and in supermarkets and I'm so grateful to them. We can call across the street to each other as well, and just check everybody is all right."
