EXPERIENCES OF WELCOME

Introduction

This discipleship resource is to help you think deeply about what welcome means in your church context. As a diocese we are seeking to become more and more intercultural, that our churches might reflect the communities we serve, and become more like the church in Revelation 7:9.

This resource has been produced in order to help us reflect on what cultural assumptions relating to welcome and hospitality might exist in our worshipping communities. It’s hoped that the reflection that comes from this resource will make our communities places where those who enter might feel like equal and valued partners and participants in our worshipping communities.

It’s designed to support individual or collective reflection, and be used over 6 sessions. We know that people learn and engage differently, so there are a variety of different things for each week, ranging from scripture to suggested worship videos.
EXPERIENCES OF WELCOME

WEEK 1 PAULINE

1/. AS YOU BEGIN

Watch Pauline’s video where she talks about her experiences of joining a church, available here: https://youtu.be/AoOuwWCxk2M

Rather than suggest a passage of scripture for Week 1, we’d like you to come up with your own!

2/. QUESTIONS FOR REFLECTION

1/. Pauline uses the metaphor of going to the gym for the first time. When have you experienced positive welcome in a non-faith-based space? What might make people feel like they don’t belong in your church?

2/. Pauline talks about getting to know people through the backdoor of getting involved in the church. What spaces to build these sorts of relationship exist within in the ministry of you church? have you thought about the importance of intercultural welcome in these spaces?

3/. Pauline talks about interculturalism being the based in scripture. What scriptures come to mind when you think about being intercultural? Why? How might you use these bible passages in your church life?

3/. FOR FURTHER REFLECTION

Multilingual Grace is a multilanguage worship song originally written as a Grace, to say ‘thank you’ to God before eating together. Proskuneo Ministries is a multicultural worship ministry in Atlanta, Georgia. Josh Davis, Creative Pastor of Proskuneo writes

“Here in our community, we eat together a lot… and that means Koreans, Latinos, Americans, Burmese, and Sudanese and more coming together around the table. We wanted something we could sing to thank God together. And, so… we wrote this.”

Having read the above, Listen to the song, “Multilingual Grace” by Proskuneo, 2017. https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=qPbWc4f8tLE

Watch Andrew's video where he shares his reflections on the importance of welcome, available here: https://youtu.be/oCSPn6HvL4

Read the following passage of scripture:
1 Cor 12:12-end

2/. QUESTIONS FOR REFLECTION

1/. Fr Andrew talks about the importance of welcome, and how a warm and generous welcome can put people's heart at ease. Where have you experienced welcome like this? What might it look like to offer this welcome in your church?

2/. There is a tension expressed in this video between our individuality and our shared humanity, particularly in Christ Jesus. How can we guard against colour-blindness when focusing on our shared humanity?

3/. Fr Andrew talks at length about the importance of recognising the humanity of others. Be that through friendship, evangelism or welcome.

Where in your life this week might you recognise the humanity of another, and in recognising that humanity see the face of God?

3/. FOR FURTHER REFLECTION

Somlandela (Love Calling):
Greg and NJ are South Africans. One is white, one is black. Before meeting one another, they hated each other's race. But when they took the time to listen to each other's stories and really be present, and love one another, a song came from that. They paired the song they wrote with a traditional Zulu hymn, 'Somlandela' which means 'we will follow'. This is a song of reconciliation and commissioning.

Watch Somlandela (Love Calling) here: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=riwkSJXEAUA

Having listened to the song and read the story above, what stands out for you?

WEEK 6 MANUELA

1/. AS YOU BEGIN

Watch Manuela’s video where she shares about her experiences of welcome within churches in the UK, available here: https://youtu.be/uM2nUl2c25Gw

Read the following passage of scripture:
Genesis 1: 26-28

2/. QUESTIONS FOR REFLECTION

2/. Manuela speaks about how meaningful it was to lead the Lord’s Prayer in Swiss German, because it helped her understand that her culture shouldn’t be hidden but offered as a gift. In what way can your church help people to understand this and value other people’s heritage?

3/. How can a space be created to share all of their story and for that to help shape the community and inform practice?

4/. Manuela emphasises that the diversity of human beings reflects the image of God. How would seeing God in those you dislike/other change your perceptions of them?

3/. FOR FURTHER REFLECTION

How is the image of God represented here? What you could to in your life to authentically reflect the diversity in this image?

What could you do to make your life more like this diverse expression of welcome and hospitality?
