RWANDA LENT APPEAL 2021

COVID RECOVERY and PASTOR TRAINING

Parish foodbank in response to Covid-19 at Maranyundo, Kigali Diocese.

LYNDHURST
DEANERY

The Rwandan Parliament requires all Christian ministers to have a university education, a bachelor's degree and a valid certificate in religious studies. Despite the Covid-19 pandemic, this is still a priority for our Rwandan partners.

Please help us to provide bursaries for pastors to continue in ministry.

LYNDHURST DEANERY RWANDA PARTNERSHIPS

Parish of Marchwood support Shyogwe Diocese

In Shyogwe Diocese only a handful of the parishes were open for worship, but with a great concern that Covid is increasing in schools and prisons.

I am Venant Ntakirutimana, a pastor in Shyogwe Diocese of the Anglican Church of Rwanda. I am 36 years old, married to Mrs

Marie Rosette Niwewarwego and we are blessed with two sons, Evan who is 6 years old and Ethan who is 2. My dream is to complete a PhD in Theology so that I can also become a lecturer in the theological schools of Rwanda.

"The church is in great need of trained young pastors in Theology, at least to bachelor's degree level, as required by the government of Rwanda."

Venant Ntakirutimana.

2021

COVID RECOVERY AND PASTOR TRAINING

Rwanda, like nearly every country, has been affected by the worldwide coronavirus pandemic.

The government in Rwanda is responding by implementing strict lockdown restrictions across the country. Without being able to earn a daily wage, many Rwandans face hardship and hunger. Churches have been closed along with schools and public transport.

There has also been very heavy rainfall with parts of the country suffering flooding and landslides. Crops and lives have been lost.

Many Lyndhurst Deanery parishes launched emergency appeals to support their link parishes in Rwanda and were able to provide direct support at a time of great need.

Rwandan churches set up foodbanks to support their local communities and these have been a lifeline to many of the poorest families. The practical help that the church is providing is a powerful witness with new families knowing the hope of God.

However the pastors themselves have been under great pressure. Seen as a focal point for those facing starvation, they have been providing support where they can. But without the income from regular church services, pastors themselves are facing severe hardship.

Many schools have built additional classrooms so that children can return. This has happened in stages and some normality has returned but the threat of further outbreaks and lockdowns is always present.

To support our Rwandan partners, this year we have asked how best we can support each link diocese. In many cases, ongoing support for pastors in training is still the main priority as the parish situation, on top of ministry training, is creating great difficulty.

Parish visits to Rwanda have been put on hold but the established relationships have kept communication channels open, allowing us to practically support, care for and pray into one another's real needs as we all face a challenging time of uncertainty. In such times it is important that we do not overlook the needs of our brothers and sisters elsewhere.

Please gift any donations to your local church treasurer, with specific reference to the Deanery Lent appeal. These gifts will then be sent on to the Lyndhurst Deanery Rwanda Mission Team. Thank you for your continued support and prayers.
