

Dilemma Story examples

Dilemma Story 1

If you didn't know already, I am Superwoman. I can fly, I can rescue people from dangerous situations, I can defeat villains ~~(from)~~ with only a strike of lightning. The only thing I can't do is destroy strong or heavy objects. Now that I have introduced myself ~~(let)~~ let me tell you about Evilwoman. Evilwoman is a despicable, selfish person. All she wants ~~(to)~~ to <sup>do, is</sup> take over the world. A great ~~(enemy)~~ ~~enemy~~ enemy of hers is the Queen: She rules the world and Evilwoman wants to snatch her crown and Throne. Today, is the day I am going to defeat her and the Queen can then live in peace.

The day is all sunny and wonderful and there doesn't seem like there is any problems. Weirdly, an old lady was sat on a bench with a tiny yapping dog <sup>who was sitting</sup> next to her. She was wearing a winter coat. Suddenly, she turned to face me and said "Oh my! You are Superwoman!" "Indeed I am." I declared. She slowly approached me and whispered "Come to my house and let me reward you." I accepted her offer and flew to her house within a flash.

Inside, she offered ~~(my)~~ me tea and biscuits. After that, she said that she had a large antique that she wanted to show me. I felt a bit suspicious but agreed to see it. As I walked through a door, SLAM! I was trapped. Cackling, she pulled off her wig and face mask. She was no old lady, she was Evilwoman. My mind was racing with questions. How did she know I am not strong? Was it a coincidence? What will she do next?

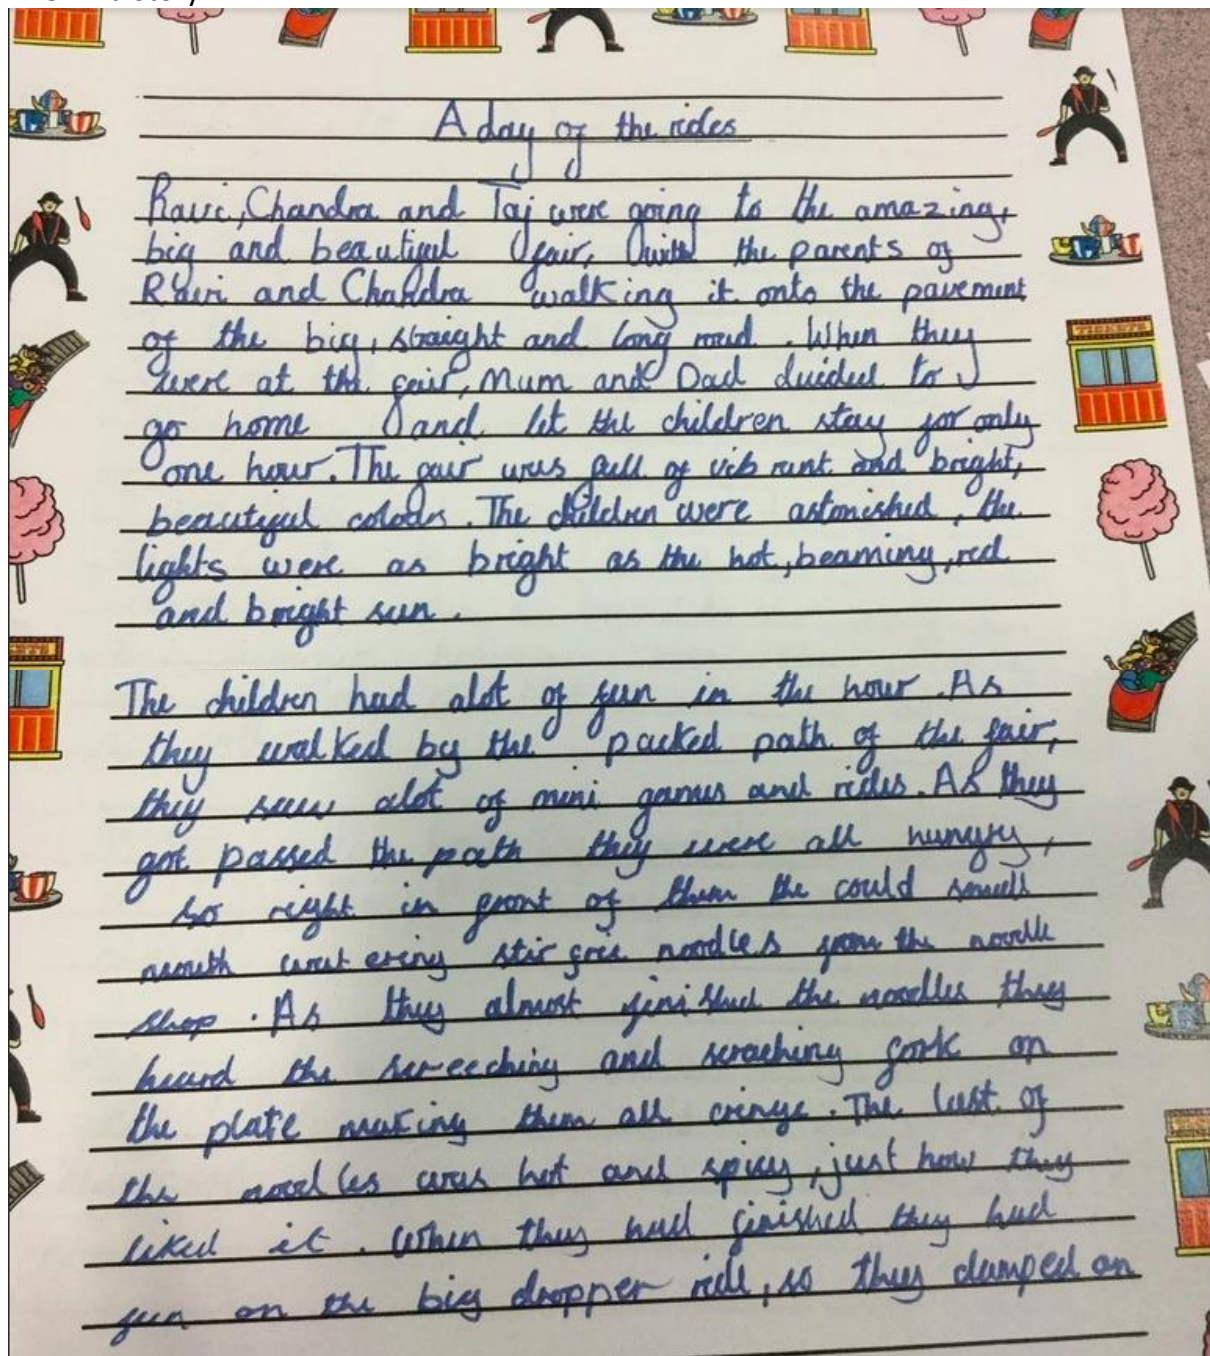

"Good luck with getting out." She <sup>teased.</sup> ~~(whispered)~~ I ~~(screamed)~~ screamed as loud as I could but it didn't work. I had let myself down. Everyone will call me disappointment girl. My life is over...

Dilemma Story examples

CLICK, the <sup>front</sup> door opened.

Dilemma Story 2

A day of the rides

Ravi, Chandra and Taj were going to the amazing, big and beautiful fair, with the parents of Ravi and Chandra walking it onto the pavement of the big, straight and long road. When they were at the fair, Mum and Dad decided to go home and let the children stay for only one hour. The fair was full of vibrant and bright, beautiful colors. The children were astonished, the lights were as bright as the hot, beaming, red and bright sun.

The children had a lot of fun in the hour. As they walked by the packed path of the fair, they saw a lot of mini games and rides. As they got passed the path they were all hungry, so right in front of them they could smell mouth-watering stir-fry noodles from the noodle shop. As they almost finished the noodles they heard the screeching and screeching of the plate making them all cringe. The last of the noodles were hot and spicy, just how they liked it. When they had finished they had fun on the big dropper ride, so they clumped on onto the cold metal bars of the ride.

Dilemma Story examples

After all of the rides she almost had to go home. But then she saw a sheet of tickets fly by down to the ground. "Let's use the tickets up," shouted Ravi. "I think we should hand them in," exclaimed Taj. Chandra had to choose one and she thought Taj's idea was good, but she wanted to pick Ravi.

"I am thinking to choose Taj... As I know Taj," said Chandra. "But why him, the one who always sneers at us when he comes to our house in the summer holidays," screamed Ravi. Chandra was sad that she had to choose Taj over her brother.

As they walked home, Taj spoke "At least we did the right thing." "Yes bright up Ravi," said Chandra.

When they got home they had a surprise and were going to have a bit of fun at night because they are going to the fair again.