From Your Rector

Dear Friends,

It's summer time . . . finally . . . so stop and smell the roses. In the midst of all the family holidays, sports events, and general busyness of life, don't miss the summertime moments of joy: a beautiful sunrise, summertime flowers, a child eating watermelon with it dripping down her face, the smell of a real barbecue, the heat of the summer sun, or a day at the beach or the lake. Take the opportunity to bask in the goodness of the Son: to slow down, to breathe deep, and to just enjoy life. Even if just for a moment . . .

I know that the lazy, hazy days of summer are long gone, a museum piece, like televisions with station dials. But that doesn't mean that in the midst of the busyness of our lives we can't capture moments when time stands still, moments that become memories and give us the ability to face the difficulties and struggles of our lives with vision and hope.

What better memory for parents than a child standing on the beach with a bucket and spade making their first sand castle and watching it being washed away by the tide, only to start all over again? Can't that memory become a kind of metaphor for our lives: endings and beginnings as the tides of life swirl around us, and finding the strength and resilience to stand there in the midst of it all, ready to begin again, even when the castles of our dreams are washed away, only to realize that they were made of sand?

Or what about that summertime experience of jumping into the pool on a really hot summer day, bracing yourself for the shock of it all, but knowing that you will be better for it? Doesn't that experience summarize some of the most challenging moments of our lives, when we have to stop just putting our toe in the water, and instead jump in, head first?

My favourite summertime memories are sitting around a campfire with friends at the end of a long day, and the embers of the fire casting shadows: the light takes away the edges and years on our faces, makes us serene and joy-filled and reflective. Can't we learn something from those moments about reflectivity, and quiet, and deep gratitude for those people in our lives with whom we share the most important moments in and out of season?

Summertime has a lot of poetry in its days. Just take a moment, breathe deep, and don't miss them.

Revd Jane

Thank you

Parish Outing to Llangollen & Llandudno

My thanks to everyone who supported our day out this year. In spite of the dire weather forecast, we enjoyed warm sunny weather in both Llangollen & Llandudno and the cloud burst occurred whilst we were on the coach.

Everyone said it was a good trip and I hope that someone would like to continue organising another, next year.

Looking at your Community

David Winter considers the pros and cons of summer of travel...

THE WAY I SEE IT - Stay-cations

We live in an era of freshly coined if slightly odd abstract nouns. We all got to know 'Brexit' (British-exit) but this month we shall also experience, I suspect, 'Stay-cation' – staying in Britain for your vacation. Terrorism is one powerful incentive to Stay-cate, but so is cost, and all the hassle of international travel.

Why not, people think, simply get in the car or book the train and visit some part of our lovely island that we've never been to before? If you haven't seen the Highlands of Scotland, or the beautiful west coast of Wales or the Boston Stump or the Helston River or the Jurassic coast, then why not make that this year's holiday adventure?

There are, of course, two sides to the argument. For my generation, going 'abroad' was a wonderful adventure. Good heavens, they actually spoke a different language, and they ate exotic things like pizza, croque monsieur and paella, washed down with unbelievably cheap red wine. Just getting on the ferry was an adventure, let alone shopping in a foreign supermarket. And there's also the Unique Selling Point, sunshine.

Balance up the arguments, and it still comes down to Stay-cation or Go-cation. Those who 'stay' will come home astonished at the beauty and diversity of our island home. Those who go will parade their tans for a few weeks and scoff at our fears of delays and terrorism. Whichever you choose – or even if you simply stay-cate at home and sit in the garden – do something different. Autumn is only round the corner.

Looking at You – daily life in the 21st century

How clean is your car? Really?!

If your car is only mildly messy – be very proud of yourself! For a recent survey has found that a quarter of us motorists have NEVER actually cleaned our car, despite eating and drinking behind the wheel. If you have a sensitive stomach, you may not wish to know the following:

39 per cent of us have not cleaned our car inside or out in the past six months. Yet 76 per cent of us regularly eat and drink while driving. 19 per cent of us also regularly transport pets, and 12 per cent of us light cigarettes while behind the wheel. So, does a car littered with stale encrusted food, ash, pet hairs and all sorts of indeterminate rubbish embarrass us in front of other people? You bet it does. And we think up all sorts of ways to keep people out of our mess:

When asked to give someone a lift somewhere, 28 per cent of us claim to have run out of petrol; 39 per cent of us claim to be heading in a different direction; nine per cent of us claim that the car is not even ours, and 14 per cent of us claim to be drunk. And finally - ten per cent of us are now so revolted by the condition of our own car, that we have switched to public transport, or getting a lift off someone else!

I 'selfie', therefore I am

Do you take selfies? Do you take more and more selfies? And – more? Be careful – there is a growing worldwide addiction to this seemingly playful trend. And it can be dangerous.

On the very practical side – literally dangerous. Last year more people worldwide were killed taking selfies than in shark attacks. "People are forgetting there's a cliff behind them, or getting squashed by trains," says one psychologist who has researched the phenomenon. One Japanese tourist in search of the perfect selfie jumped the barrier at Niagara Falls – with fatal consequences.

Even if you don't kill yourself posing for a selfie, beware what this growing trend may be doing to your mind. Such obsession with your own image is familiar in toddlers and teens, but should have a lesser grip on us as we grow older.

As the average millennial is now expected to take 25,700 selfies in his or her lifetime, Elsa Godart, a French psychoanalyst and philosopher warns that society is in danger of developing 'teen brain'. She warns that, far from selfies giving us a stronger sense of our own identities, they will only serve to increase our insecurities about how we appear to others.

'What may look like straight-forward narcissism can often be... a craving for reassurance that you can only ever get from 'likes'. But you're chasing the dragon, because far from calming any neuroses down, posting another selfie will only amplify them." Put another way, if you crave 'likes', you can never get enough of them.

She goes on to say that "it becomes worrying when the illusory virtual self you're selling is more appealing than the real self. So you can Photoshop yourself into your ideal and of course that illusion is so perfect that nobody wants real life any more... although selfies can be anodyne and fun, there is a real danger of us losing our connection to and consciousness of the world around us...

Elsa Godart's book, Je Selfie Donc Je Suis is pub.by Ablin Michel

Could you be our Church Treasurer?

Due to the resignation of our current treasurer, for personal reasons, we are looking for a new treasurer.

Do you have skills in Book-keeping and Account Reconciliation?

Do you work well as part of a team?

Yes to both. Then you could be just the person we are looking for.

The weekly counting and banking of our Sunday offering (and other income) is done by a member of the finance team. The payment of most bills is done by another member of the finance team. Both of these people are willing to carry on doing what they already do.

The software which is being used at the moment is QuickBooks, so familiarity with that would be helpful, but not essential, as we would be willing to consider alternatives.

APCM NEWS

Thank you to everyone who attended the APCM on 24th April.

Could you be our Church Warden?

We only received one nomination (Mr Chris Perry), so he was elected!

Church wardens are elected for one year, but can serve up to six consecutive years if re-elected. Mr John Roberts has done that, so he cannot stand again.

The basic number of churchwardens is two for each parish. There is no legal sanction if a parish does not have the full number, but it is important to ensure a full complement if at all possible. This is because a single churchwarden acting alone can be placed under an unreasonable burden. It is also unsatisfactory for a parish to be left without cover if a single churchwarden is unable to carry out his or her duties for a time, for example because of illness or unavoidable absence... Churchwardens are chosen and hold office for only one year at a time. (From the "Guide to the Churchwarden's Measure 2001)

Church Wardens are appointed to serve the whole parish and not a particular church building or congregation and so anyone who is

baptised,
on the electoral roll,
an "actual communicant"
and aged over 21

can be considered for this role.

If you think this could be you, or if you think someone else would be the right person to serve our parish in this way,
then please speak to Revd Jane or any member of the PCC.

Things we never imagined people doing

Following on from last month's article about things we seniors could never have dreamt we would be able to buy, here are some ideas of things we could never have imagined we would do - or see other people do! Again, can you think of anymore?

Go for a run! We ran because we were late or to escape from a policeman or an irate neighbour whose door we knocked on for fun, but never to keep fit!

Buy a take away meal - other than fish and chips! The nearest we got to an exotic, foreign food was a dry packet of Vesta Curry and that was not until the 70s!

Draw money from a cash dispenser! Most people were paid in cash and, only later, by cheque - which was cashed inside the bank on Saturday!

Wear shorts outdoors! Unless you were a Boy Scout Leader or 'Tiller Girl', your legs never saw the light of day – except, perhaps, at the swimming baths!

Watch a movie in our own home! Many of us went to the cinema once a week and saw a main feature, a B movie, a newsreel and a pile of short features.

Holiday abroad! For most people, holidays meant days out in Blackpool, Rhyl, Prestatyn, Llandudno or even West Kirby - with a pot of tea on the beach from Tottey's!

Share minute details of your everyday life with people you rarely see!

Do the 'School Run' in a car! From an early age, children used to walk unaccompanied to and from their primary school.

Go out on a Sunday without wearing your Sunday Best!

Life choice

A small boy returned from Sunday School in tears. When questioned by his mother for the reason of his distress, he gulped: 'Jesus wants me for a sunbeam, but I want to be an engine driver.'

It's cool

I was at summer scout camp where the final service was to be taken by a bishop. It was a very hot, humid day and the clergy from local churches were slowly melting in their various heavy robes. Finally one snapped: 'When is that flipping bishop going to turn up?' Whereupon a man close by, dressed in Scouts shirt, tie and short trousers, said mildly: 'I'm already here.'

Open wide

A lady was very nervous about her appointment at the dentist. She sought courage from her Bible. The verse her finger landed on was Psalm 81:10: 'Open thy mouth wide and I will fill it.'

What exactly is 'a lie'?

A little boy was asked in a school exam to explain what 'lying' is. He wrote: 'A lie is an abomination unto the Lord, but a very present help in trouble.'

Preaching hazards

Showing your new parish that you are a forceful preacher may not always be a good idea, as the Rev Sydney Smith found out when he first arrived at All Saints Church in Foston in 1806. 'When I began to thump the pulpit cushion on my first coming to Foston, the accumulated dust of 150 years made such a cloud that for some minutes I lost sight of the congregation.'
