The Newsletter of The Free Church (United Reformed) St Ives

Thoughts for the month ahead.

My tendency to “never do today what can be put off until tomorrow” has again caught me out and, having not asked Catherine to write a piece for this edition before she went on holiday, I’ve had to write something myself! Hopefully I will learn one day but then again, another saying immediately springs to mind about old dogs and new tricks!

On a recent visit to a garden centre, I found that preparations for Christmas were already in full swing, with festive songs playing and enticing displays of Christmas gifts and decorations. We sometimes groan at seeing Christmas appearing so early, but perhaps it’s understandable. As we get to November, we become more aware of the shortening days and of the cold and duller days, which the approaching winter months may bring. We all need good things to look forward to and hence we year for the light, love, warmth and fellowship of Christmas to cheer us on our way.

Towards the end of November we will click over into a new church year as we reach Advent and start our journey towards Christmas. We will again be reminded of the reason for that first Christmas and of the amazing and quite staggering love which God has for each of us.

In our lives, we will have good times and difficult times, laughter and tears, sunny days and dark storms. Our Christian faith tells us that God is with us in all that life throws at us - although it is of course in the darker days that we become most in need of the reassurance of God’s love shining in the darkness.

Thank You For Keeping In Touch!

As you will probably have seen, the final issue of Keeping In Touch has recently been published and the regular weekly emailed newsletter has now stopped. Many thanks again to Christine and Alan Curtis for producing these ever since the first lockdown started. Over the coming months, we will try to adapt and develop Inspire to fill some of the gaps these will leave behind.

Weekly Video Services on our Website.

It is great to see the number able to join us on Sunday mornings increasing again but for those unable to attend, we are still adding a video service to our website each week. If you get a chance to take a look then that would be great...and it would be very encouraging for us to see an increase in the viewing figures!
