

Tying it together

Last week the Israelites had to trust God again, crossing the river may have seemed an impossible task, but remember, Nothing is impossible with God.

So this week is about remembering. For the Israelites this meant doing something physical to be a reminder. The tower of stones would cause people to ask, why are they there? A great opportunity to share and remember what God had done, not just in crossing the Jordan river, but all of the journey to that point.

How good are you at remembering, we need to remember all sorts of things. Can you recall any special places or occasions that help you to remember something important? What do we remember at Christmas? What do we remember at Easter?

Try this have somebody place 8 items on a tray for you, and cover it over. You have 30 seconds to look before it is covered again. Can you recall what was on the tray; look again, is anything missing?
