

11.05.20 Music

Hello everyone,

I hope you are keeping well and are getting on ok with your work at home. I know that many of you have been doing lots of English and maths as well as other topic areas which is great to hear!

If you want to try something a little different and enjoy music - try out these music lessons on BBC Teach.

The link below will take you to some lessons which link really well to your current topic on the Romans. Take a look and try them out. The added bonus is that it is all oral or practical - no written work - yay!
