

School's first concert

PUPILS of Gosberton School are pictured busy rehearsing for their concert The Little Moose, an Indian story with a moral about keeping promises.

About 60 children aged between five and seven took part in the concert which was staged for their parents at the school last night (Monday).

The concert was a combination of a term's various musical activities with a lot of art and craftwork complementing the songs and stories. The children sang and played tambourines, drums and triangles.

Teacher Mrs Anne Grief, organiser of the concert, said: "This is the first time the children have put on a concert and they were very excited about it."
