Time to talk about a sabbatical

A sabbatical isn't a holiday but my one did end with a tour of Wales, culminating in a special family event and arriving home late yesterday. I'm back at St Peter's for seven weeks, but what, you may ask, have I been up to over the past three months? We have spent more time with family in London and East Anglia, joined a week at Scargill House for those seeking to discover God's guidance in times of life change, continued with ongoing responsibilities in Harrogate and beyond, and also soaked up a lot of sun on the way.

The focus of my sabbatical has been researching how best the church as a whole might partner with its retired clergy in the years to come, given the impending reduction in full time clergy. This has involved interviewing people in various parts of the country with special responsibilities at diocesan level, but also undertaking a local case study in the Dales. It has been fascinating to bring together insights from those who have strategic responsibilities, with the experience of Christian leaders at ground level, where clergy cuts may have a profound effect on the sustainability of many church communities. My findings will be wrapped up in a 7,000 word report to be sent to Bishop Nick and others.

Christians at many levels are responding creatively and energetically to the missional challenges which lay before them. In dealing with cuts in clergy numbers, the Holy Spirit seems to be steering the people of God to work together in new ways which actually seem to reflect his character and calling better than the old. If we keep faithful to Christ then this could be a springtime for the church in our nation.

Could you spot the signs of modern slavery?

WESEEYOU.

Tomorrow three anti-slavery campaigners, including William Wilberforce, are celebrated in the Anglican Calendar. More than 200 years after the abolition of slavery there are still an estimated 45.3 million trapped in modern slavery, up to 12,000 potential victims in the UK alone. The Clewer Initiative forms part of the Church of England's drive to eradicate modern slavery. A key part of this initiative is providing resources that help raise awareness of modern slavery in the local church through a website: www.theclewerinitiative.org. There you can learn how to spot the signs of modern slavery, what to do if you encounter it and how you can report it. As is often said: the only thing necessary for the triumph of evil is for good men to do nothing.

Say it with Flowers

Why not mark a special occasion, such as an anniversary or birthday, by making a donation towards the flowers in Church? The St Peter's Flower Team will make an arrangement on the pedestal to the left of the altar and you will also receive a mention in the Weekly News. Please speak to Sue Heapy for further details (07540 355305).

Summer Breaks

Some of our groups and organisations, like St Peter's Sunday Club, are taking a break for the Summer. Our Choir will continue to sing at services on Sundays, but there will be no choir practise on Thursday evenings. There will be no further Lunchtime RefleXions for now, but they will all no doubt be back in September.

Welcome back to St Peter's, Tim!

Our Associate Vicar, Tim Hurren, who has been on a three month sabbatical, returns to St Peter's today. He will be providing clergy cover for the rest of the Summer until he retires in September. To mark Tim's retirement from St Peter's Church after almost 20 years service, and, of course, to say farewell, there will be a Parish Lunch on Sunday 16th September. Further details nearer the time.

St Peter's Evening Fellowship: The Story of Diamonds

A diamond is simply a lump of coal that did well under pressure!

©GodFruits.com

The next meeting of St Peter's Evening Fellowship is this week, on 2nd August, in the Brostoff Hall starting at 7:30 pm. We welcome back Robert Bolton, a jewellery expert; some of you may recall his interesting talk on pearls last year. Most diamonds were formed by high temperatures and pressure under the Earth's crust probably between 1 and 3 billion years ago. Come on Thursday to find out more about this fascinating subject!

Well done everyone – a staggering amount was raised!

At the St Peter's Fundraising Refreshment Day held on Saturday 21st July a total of £628 was raised for our Church. Thank you to all who made it such a great success!
