Holocaust Memorial Day 2020 – Stand Together

Today we welcome members of the local Jewish community, who will be joining us for our Holocaust Memorial Service at 11:00 am.

Holocaust Memorial Day 2020 marks the 75th anniversary of the liberation of Auschwitz on 27th January 1945 – this is a significant milestone and is made particularly poignant by the dwindling number of survivors who are able to share their testimony. It also marks the 25th anniversary of the genocide in Bosnia - the massacres at Srebrenica and Žepa committed by Bosnian Serb forces in 1995.

The theme for Holocaust Memorial Day 2020 is Stand Together. It explores how genocidal regimes throughout history have deliberately divided societies by marginalising certain groups, and how these tactics can be challenged by individuals standing together with their neighbours and speaking out against oppression.

Today there is increasing division in communities across the UK and the world. Now more than ever, we need to stand together with others in our communities in order to stop that division and the spread of identity-based hostility in our society. In order to combat hate in our communities, individuals have a crucial role to play in challenging what is seen as acceptable language and behaviour, especially on social media. When Holocaust Memorial Day was established in 2000 in Stockholm, delegates from the 46 countries were asked to sign a declaration, one of the statements says:

We recognise that humanity is still scarred by the belief that race, religion, disability or sexuality make some people's lives worth less than others. Genocide, antisemitism, racism, xenophobia and discrimination still continue. We have a shared responsibility to fight these evils.

A prayer for Holocaust Memorial Day 2020

The Archbishop of Canterbury Justin Welby, the Chief Rabbi Ephraim Mirvis and Senior Imam Qari Asim have united to write a new prayer for Holocaust Memorial Day 2020:

Loving God, we come to you with heavy hearts, remembering the six million Jewish souls murdered during the Holocaust. In the horrors of that history, when so many groups were targeted because of their identity, and in genocides which followed, we recognise destructive prejudices that drive people apart.

Forgive us when we give space to fear, negativity and hatred of others, simply because they are different from us. In the light of God, we see everyone as equally precious manifestations of the Divine and can know the courage to face the darkness. Through our prayers and actions, help us to stand together with those who are suffering, so that light may banish all darkness, love will prevail over hate and good will triumph over evil. Amen

Thoughts about Depression

The following article, which is part of the 'Welcome, Inclusion, Respect' initiative, deals with the difficult subject of depression. It has been written by a member of our congregation.

Depression has been described in so many ways over the years; Churchill called it his Black Dog, others describe it as being under a dark cloud, a lead weight on the shoulders, or just 'not doing great'. I feel that none of these accurately describe the terrible black pit in the centre of my being; the inability to focus on things that I enjoy, the inability to sleep, the whole sensation of emptiness and despair that being depressed brings about.

Depression has many causes: lack of sunlight; hormone or chemical imbalance; a mental reaction to a traumatic or life changing event that could have happened in the long, distant past or is happening now, or just a culmination of these. I have had it on and off for over half of my life, and it still sneaks up on me. I suddenly realise that I am waking up earlier and earlier each day, there is a growing pile of unopened envelopes on the table, my child is eating junk food because I don't have the energy to cook, I close myself off from family and friends and existing becomes a replacement for living.

The worst thing you can say to someone who is depressed is 'we all get depressed'. If only I 'just got depressed' instead of the black hole that numbs all feeling except fear, terror and sadness. As a rational person I know that none of these feelings are true, but as a depressed person they are the most powerful sensations in the world. If anything in this article resonates with you, please talk to someone – a trusted friend or family member, your GP or The Samaritans (telephone 116 123). The mental health charity Mind (mind.org.uk) has information about depression and how you can access treatment and support. There are tips on caring for yourself and guidance for friends and family. You don't have to go through this alone.
