Our Food Heroes

In this week's article I want to pay tribute to all the 'Food Heroes' here at St Peter's. Firstly, let me remind you that in scripture there are two main types of food that God give us. When the Israelites were wandering in the wilderness, struggling to find food, God provides manna from heaven, literally providing bread to sustain their physical needs ensuring their survival. In the New Testament Jesus states that he is the Bread of Life – a bread just as important as manna, bread that sustains our spiritual life. Here at St Peter's we have Feeding Hungry People as our strapline describing our mission. This strapline is two sided, with one side looking at the manna we can provide and the other at how we help people find the Bread of Life.

In the last few days, I have been told by two separate people that St Peter's is one of busiest churches in the Episcopal area. This would not be possible without all your support. We are so blessed to have such a range of talented and dedicated people who support our church services, with time and energy and prayers. Without you we would not be providing the best possible environment for people to connect with God and be nourished by the Bread of Life. To all the volunteers and supporters who give time, energy, food, and money to our food ministry - without you there would be such a void in the centre of Harrogate - you enable us to meet people's basic needs of food, water and friendship; and you provide the manna that everyone needs and deserves.

During lockdown you our 'Food Heroes' have had to adapt to an ever-changing landscape of lockdown and regulations. Yet you have all kept moving forward, focused on our mission to Feed Hungry People, and I know that without your support and continued prayers, this mission would fail. So, on behalf of Alan and myself, I would like to say a massive thank you to all of YOU - our 'Food Heroes'.

Chris Clayton, Curate at St Peter's Church

Every year St Peter's Church gives at least £3,000 in donations to different charities – half of these are local, and half are working overseas. Find out more about these charities, the work that they do and how the lockdown has affected them.

Artizan International (originally named Craft Aid International) was founded in 2013 by Susie Hart MBE. Susie started Artizan International on returning to Harrogate after 10 years of life and work in Tanzania, where she set up a social enterprise called Neema Crafts that provides training and employment for people with disabilities, all of whom are now able to support themselves and their families with dignity and pride.

ARTIZAN

Susie set up the registered charity Artizan International to pass on this model to other developing countries, like Peru and Ecuador, where people with disabilities are still living in poverty.

Susie also found that disabled people in the UK are often socially isolated, so, until the lockdown in March, therapeutic crafts sessions for adults with disabilities in Harrogate and Leeds were set up – sadly these have had to be cancelled. As an alternative, the charity has been making craft videos for people to do at home, setting up Zoom sessions and asking volunteers to keep in regular touch with clients. Unfortunately, the grand opening of their new premises on Oxford Street has had to be put on hold, which means the charity faces a difficult few months financially.

Laura Baxendale is now the project leader in Peru and has set up a new office in Arequipa, where she has been training people with physical disabilities in jewellery making and textiles. Once the lockdown there eases there are plans for a new centre with a studio, shop and café to be built. Laura is also involved in a therapeutic crafts workshop in a home for men with learning disabilities run by the local Anglican Church. She is pictured here making paper with some of the residents.

The coronavirus outbreak in Ecuador has been particularly horrendous, with bodies left lying in the street. The training and social enterprise, making paper from banana leaves and recycled paper, has had to close. Although the charity managed to get a month's worth of craft supplies out to its artisans so they could continue working and earning money, these ran out in May. The charity has set up an online shop to help sell the crafts created by its artisans in South America after its normal sales routes through Fairtrade shops were closed off by the crisis.

To support the work of Artizan International you could buy crafts from the online shop, make a donation towards running costs, or offer to volunteer – please visit www.artizaninternational.org.

Gilbert & Sullivan service

In normal circumstances we would have welcomed visitors to the International Gilbert & Sullivan Festival at our services today. The festival, held in Harrogate since 2014, had to be cancelled this year as a result of COVID-19. Arthur Sullivan was a boy chorister at the Chapel Royal and an organist at two London churches. He wrote several hymn tunes, anthems and sacred part songs. Today hymns such as It came upon a midnight clear; the anthem The Lost Chord; and Sullivan's setting of Jubilate in D will be sung at our 11:00 am Matins service.

The Collect for the Tenth Sunday after Trinity

Let your merciful ears, O Lord, be open to the prayers of your humble servants; and that they may obtain their petitions make them to ask such things as shall please you;

through Jesus Christ your Son our Lord, who is alive and reigns with you, in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, now and for ever.

or

Lord of heaven and earth, as Jesus taught his disciples to be persistent in prayer, give us patience and courage never to lose hope, but always to bring our prayers before you; through Jesus Christ our Lord.

A Wing and a Prayer at Ripon Cathedral

A spectacular origami art installation is now on display in Ripon Cathedral – part of the A Wing and a Prayer project launched in May to support the vital work of the Yorkshire Air Ambulance and Ripon Cathedral.

Some 10,000 paper angels are now flying high above the nave – made by volunteers and reflecting the prayers offered for those who have lost their lives to the Coronavirus and those in the NHS and other front line services risking their own lives for the sake of others. So far the project has raised over £130,000, which will be shared between the Yorkshire Air Ambulance and the Cathedral.

It's not too late to leave a prayer in the Cathedral or to send in your prayers via the Cathedral website to remember a loved one or a key worker; the prayers will then be said by the clergy during services. Those leaving a prayer are also invited to make a donation. Get involved by visiting www.riponcathedral.org.uk/wing-and-prayer/. The installation – which will remain in the Cathedral until the Feast of St Michael and All Angels on 29th September, aims to reflect how people from our community have come together during these uncertain times to support one another.
