

CRUX magazine

As a result of the Coronavirus pandemic, church buildings were closed for worship to help prevent spread of the virus. We took the decision in April that it would not be possible to produce and distribute safely copies of the CRUX magazine to readers.

Churches may now open again with social distancing measures in place. However, we are advised that paper is a transmission risk and should be avoided where possible.

We are currently not producing the CRUX magazine to comply with this advice. The last issue printed was the April 2020 issue. Meanwhile we hope you enjoy reading lots of news and features which continue to be published on the diocesan website.

We are keeping the situation under review and will return to publishing printed copies of CRUX as soon as practically possible.

Parishes will not be charged for issues that were not published.

3 August 2020