Minutes of Previous DAC Meeting

September 2021 minute

The DAC resolved to endorse the draft report, supporting the proposals within the north transept and vestry, west end alterations to the screen, disposal of organ, relocation of font and disposal of a small number of pews. The DAC resolved that there was insufficient justification for the removal of a greater number of pews and that the children’s pew should be retained.

Context

Following DAC advice in September 2021 and initial amenity society responses the parish and design team have revised the proposals to include retention of 4 rows of pews in a fixed position and the front row of pews altered to be made moveable. 5 row of pews will therefore be retained in the nave, 6 of the removed pews to be relocate elsewhere in the church, 6 pews to be used to provide ends for the 6 to be retained. The 2 shorter benches are to be retained and relocated to the vestry. The two pews containing 18th century carving to be retained and relocated to the south transept.

Lighting and heating systems yet to be resolved – an M&E engineer is to be appointed. There is no gas in the village. Likely to be a hybrid system – with UFH in the areas of pew removal (required due to presence of panelling) and under pew heaters and wall heaters in other areas.

Points for Consideration

- Frontals being relocated to the chancel will make the available space very narrow – parish therefore propose to either dispose of the frontals and keep 4 pews in the chancel, or to keep two pews in the chancel and the frontals. Parish preference is two pews (one on either side) and retain the frontal. Or happy to leave it until post works for consideration.
- Principle of prayer desk removal – this is noted within the Pew Report by OHP as having been created from the pulpit (itself introduced to the church from the chapel at Canons, home of the Dukes of Chandos, in 1747) during the 1849 alterations.
- Principle of disposal of return of children’s pew to lessen its impact on the available space

Recommendation

The SCBO recommends the revised scheme is supported in principle, with a supportive Notification of Advice issued when final responses from amenity societies are received, with the following provisos:

- Detailed design specifications and drawings for all aspects of the scheme are to be submitted to, and agreed by, the DAC prior to works commencing.
- No spoil is to leave the churchyard and any charnel must be reburied with due reverence.
- The PCC should be aware that it may have responsibilities for health and safety during these works under the Construction Design Management Regulations 2015. Further information and guidance can...

- Should the terms of grant of any funder require the parish to display a plaque recognising their contribution, the parish is to seek the approval of a DAC officer to the proposed location and fixing method of the plaque.

Context
The proposal comes about as a result of research work undertaken by Dr Kate Tiller and Sir Hugo Brunner. Jeff West and Julian Munby have been consulted on the design and have raised a number of concerns, which the SCBO would be grateful if they would speak to at the meeting.

Points for Consideration
- The principle of the introduction of a plaque
- The appropriateness of the proposed design, wording, materials, location and fixing method

Recommendation
The CBO recommends that the DAC resolve to support the principle of a plaque and delegate the details of the proposals to a sub committee of Jeff West and Julian Munby.

Context

The Church of St Mary and St John, a large Grade II listed building set in an expansive churchyard on the southern side of the Cowley Road, was founded by Father Richard Meux Benson in 1875. The church is part of the built legacy of Fr Benson, which includes four schools, the mission house of the Society of St John (the Cowley fathers) and their later monastic buildings, the church of St John the Evangelist, and St John’s Home (run by All Saints Sisters of the Poor).

Proposals to provide improved facilities and encourage community use of the church are the focus of current discussions. Detailed statements of significance and need have been provided along with a feasibility study and options appraisal. Although included in the feasibility study, proposals for the churchyard will be forthcoming as a separate application.

Points for Consideration

- Has a robust need for additional community facilities in Cowley been clearly demonstrated?
- Does the preferred option address the needs identified in the statement of needs? For example, the preferred option does not appear to include a small flexible meeting space.
- Are the proposals for each area of the church appropriate? For example, is the east end of the north aisle the most appropriate location for a servery?

Recommendation
The parish are to be commended for their approach to this project and their willingness to phase the stages of the work allowing time to evaluate the success of each step before proceeding with the next. The CBO recommends that the DAC resolve to give in principle support to the proposed reordering and encourage the parish to continue to progress the proposals taking into consideration the comments contained within the site visit report.

Context
The parish have explained their desire to increase capacity and replace the existing chairs with high quality chairs appropriate to the quality of the church interior.

Points for Consideration
- It seems unlikely that the numbers thoughts possible to accommodate are accurate, but that is for the parish to assure themselves before purchase.
- The parish will need to check with their insurers that the building is safe for the expected capacity.

Recommendation
The SCBO recommends a supportive Notification of Advice is issued.

Context

Initial DAC consultation on a heating options appraisal for the church was carried out in January 2021. Finding an appropriate, sustainable heating solution for the building is not straightforward. As a result, the parish are proposing a temporary solution employing heated seat pads with the intention to review the heating again in five years’ time. Meanwhile, the congregation is growing, and the parish would like additional flexible space at the east for a nave altar and for a café church at the west end. These two items form the basis of the current application.

The initial proposals are to remove the front two pews on both sides of the nave, the two churchwarden’s pews from the west side of the crossing and all of the pews from the north and south aisle. New stackable chairs are proposed for the aisles and west end. In addition the wooden floor in the area of the former pew platforms at the west end of the church would be relaid to create a step free surface and new carpet provided. The remainder of the floors would be repaired with tiles/wood blocks rebedded to eliminate trip hazards. The existing heating ducts would be used to install new electric cables with flush floor boxes to provide power supplies for heated seat pads to the nave pews. Rechargeable heated seat pads would be provided for the new chairs.

Points for Consideration

- Has sufficient justification been provided for the removal of the pews at the west end of the church? All of the pews in both aisles?
- Are the proposed heated seat pads appropriate? Should additional heating be considered for the west end of the nave?
- Is carpet an appropriate floor finish at the west end of the nave?
- Would disposal of the bier be acceptable?

Recommendation

The CBO recommends that the DAC ratify the draft site visit report and resolve to provide in principle support for the proposals with resolution of details delegated to the subcommittee. These details should include:

- A revised drawing and photographs of the existing floor finishes to indicate their significance within the context of the church.
- Proposals for grading of the floor and floor covering at the west end of the nave.
- A condition report and specification for the repair of the floors in the aisles, chancel and east end of the nave.
- A detail drawing indicating the proposed cable routes and floor box locations for supply for the heated seat pads.
• Further details/information about the proposed heated seat pads such as how often the batteries need to be recharged, how able/willing the parish is to do this before every use, the expected lifespan of the pads and batteries, and the ease of replacement.
• Proposals for additional space heating in the servery/café area at the west end of the nave.
• An updated drawing showing retention of the churchwarden’s pews at the east end of the nave and indicating the proposed location of the remaining children’s pew.
• A revised statement of need with further justification for removal of the pews from both aisles.
• Details of the proposed chairs and tables as well as the storage for these.
• Proposals for the relocation/removal of the bier.

Context

St Michael & All Angels is a well-loved, medium-sized church with two Sunday services with a regular attendance of 40-50 people, and 100 on the electoral roll. Currently, the south-west corner has flexible space for gathering post-worship, but more space is needed to accommodate the use of the church for community outreach, which has grown substantially in recent years. Presently, there is the weekly Rhubarb café for 20-50 people, as well as the innovative Repair café, where members of the public pay donations for items being mended by skilled volunteers on site, while they enjoy refreshments. There is also a local need for, and a commitment on the PCC’s part to, starting up a Dementia café as soon as an accessible WC is available, and the PCC has recently been trained in dementia awareness for this planned outreach. Finally, there is a need for a designated Sunday school for 10-15 children, currently prohibited by a lack of sound attenuation in the children’s area in the north-west corner of the main church. The 11x mid-20th century pews proposed for removal are attractive and of decent quality and oak construction. They are, however, of more local than historical significance, being paid for by public subscription, and therefore bearing plaques in memory of former parishioners. The PCC proposes to auction them but will offer them first to the families they are able to trace. This was something they did in 2015 when they removed seven pews in the south-west corner, so they are familiar with the process.

The church’s only lavatory is accessed from outside, above the subterranean and rather utilitarian boiler room, and is neither accessible for disabled users, nor ideal for children or parents with babies. The existing servery is in the tower, a space which also houses the choir and clergy vestries, bell ringers, and flower-arranging equipment. This means that the space, although kept as organised as possible, is often cramped, and not able to serve any one of its functions especially well. In short, this is a church whose requirements have outgrown the existing footprint of the church building, and to provide adequate facilities whilst retaining sufficient space for seating and gathering, an extension to the building is necessary. This is a point on which the delegation and Ms Gallo of Historic England all seemed in agreement. The question was considered as to where best to site this extension.

An options appraisal (carried out by Camilla Finlay of Acanthus Clews) presented four concepts: Option A- remodelling the tower to include facilities (discounted as being insufficient to meet the church’s needs), B- an extension to the south of the tower (leaving the existing boiler house to the north in situ - cost approx. £325k), C- replacing the boiler house to the north with a single extension here (cost approx. £340k), and D- extensions on both the north and south of the tower (cost approx. £425k).

Points for Consideration

- Although on paper option C seems preferable, the parish’s preference is for Option B, an extension to the south, while leaving alone the existing boiler house and WC to the north. This is partly on grounds of cost, and partly in recognition that the existing boiler is serviceable and does not yet need replacing, even though it is acknowledged that an overhaul of the system will be required sometime in the next ten years. The PCC are also conscious that this overhaul will need to be in line with the commitment to Net-zero carbon emissions by 2030. The DAC delegation agreed it is sensible to get the most out of the 2009 boiler’s remaining years, since the embodied energy of the existing system will be significant, and hydrogen-ready boilers are not yet available.

- The delegation’s view was that an extension in the south-west corner is suitable. Not only will an extension on this side not be overlooked, but it was considered that the deeper south aisle of the church lends itself better to a size of extension that would be visually uncomfortable on the shallower and more publicly visible north side of the church. To achieve the same floorspace on the north side, the extension would have to project further than the building line of the north aisle, in line with the buttresses and only just set back from the building line of the porch. An extension on the south side would also allow for an easier extending of the existing path to the south porch for level access.

- It is worth noting that Ms Gallo of Historic England seemed to take a different view, considering the replacement of the boiler house to be both logical and imperative. It is true that the semi-subterranean brick lean-to boiler house sets a precedent for a structure here, has already disturbed the ground, and is unsightly in the way it wraps around the adjacent early 19th century obelisk monument far too closely. The DAC delegation considered, however, that it is at least reasonably discreet, being tucked well into the corner, with a clay tile roof which references the existing pitched roofs of the church. It was acknowledged that provision of a south side extension would not preclude the future possibility of extending on the north side as well, as and when the parish’s needs require. Although the west window of the south aisle, which would be removed as part of this work (though possibly could be re-instated in the extension) is larger and perhaps finer than that of the north aisle, both windows have been heavily renewed and so the impact of either option on the significance of these is probably equally limited.

Recommendation

The delegation considered the proposed massing of an extension on the south side (option B) to be preferable and encourages the PCC to develop this proposal.

Early engagement with the local Planning Authority is recommended, since their views, along with those of the amenity societies, will be central to progressing the project.

Context

Discussions of how best to create flexible space for use by the parish and the school within the church began in 2014. A TRO for temporary removal of the children’s seating and 4 x 8ft pews was granted in August 2017. Initial proposals to make permanent the removal of a number of pews were first submitted in November 2018 and have been revised over the ensuing years culminating in the current application. Following the November 2021 delegation visit, the parish submitted the revised scheme retaining all but one of the children’s pews, the children’s frontal and the children’s seats as well as two pew frontals. The revised scheme also retains an 8ft frontal at the east end of the northern bank of pews. The survival of a complete set of children’s pews, seats, and frontal is unusual and is a physical reminder the well-established historical and functional connection of the church with the adjacent school.

St Mary, Westcott is considered one of the finest G E Street churches in the diocese. It owes its significance, in large part, to the completeness of the original interior. Richard Peats has this to say about the fittings at Westcott:

As every one of Street’s fittings is an individual work by a major 19th century artist, should we not treat them all as such and value them as we would say a sketch by Rossetti? However, this approach does not work well for church fittings. Firstly, all the nave benches within a building are identical, so they are more like limited edition prints than individual art works. Secondly, the whole is almost always greater than the sum of the individual parts: the reason why these interiors are special is generally because of their architectural character as spaces. Individual elements can be very simple and of little intrinsic artistic merit, but the work as a whole can be outstanding. A good example of this is St Mary’s, Westcott (Bucks), where relatively simple fittings are combined to create a remarkable interior which thrives on austerity.

For this reason, removal of pews and other furnishings needs careful consideration as any pew removal will harm the integrity of the historic interior. The DAC subcommittee, Historic England and the CBC have accepted that the need for removal of some pews has been demonstrated. A consultation response from the Victorian Society is awaited.

Points for Consideration
- Is the need for flexible space within the church clearly defined?
- The significance of the church largely relates to the completeness of the Victorian interior. Does the benefit to the community outweigh the harm to this significance from the removal of some of the original pews?

Recommendation
The CBO recommends that a Recommend notification of advice is issued for the removal of the pews as shown in the proposed seating plan version 6 contained within the addendum to the Statement of Need. The parish should be encouraged to investigate donating the removed pews to St Mary’s, Fleet Marston which is in the care of the Churches Conservation Trust.

Proposal
To introduce a Quiet Garden inspired by the quiet garden movement which nurtures access to outdoor space for prayer, reflection and rest in a variety of settings. The garden creates opportunities for people to experience silence, restfulness and contemplative practices, with regular quiet days and retreats, where individuals or families can be silent and listen to the sounds of nature. To include a labyrinth, memory setts for commemorations, a bench, meadow planting, living willow tunnel, mown paths, native tree planting and an interpretation board.

Context
The Revd Gill Barrow-Jones approached the DAC with this scheme in October 2021. This project had been under discussion for some time in the parish. However following the untimely death of Roger Wythe, a long standing officer of the church from Covid-19 earlier this year his widow Bridget engaged a Landscape Gardener and family friend, to design the garden and it is in Roger’s memory that they are keen to proceed. A sub-committee including Archdeacon Guy, DAC Chair Derek Witchell and CBO went on site on 1 December 2021 to discuss the scheme with the parish team. During the visit suggestions were made by the sub-committee and as a result the parish have submitted a 2nd draft Masterplan. Their revisions include:

- rethinking the pathway leading to the quiet garden area
- replacing the swing seat with a bench
- introducing a free standing interpretation board
- requiring uniformity to the inscriptions on the setts (memory stones) they propose these stones not just as memorial stones but to mark a variety of occasions including weddings, baptisms

Points for Consideration
- whether the committee agree with the principle of this scheme
- thoughts on the memory setts and who and how people/events will be commemorated

Recommendation
When the sub-committee is content with the specific details of the scheme the CBO recommends a supportive NOA to be issued with the proviso that no spoil is to leave the churchyard.
10. List B’s and Notifications of Advice issued under sub-committees and delegated authority since last meeting
