

Bramfield C of E Primary School

On Friday 18th November, 22 of our children went along to Snape Maltings Concert Hall at Snape Maltings as part of the final celebration event for this year's Friday Afternoons Big Sing. The event celebrates the life and works of Benjamin Britten. This event started up during Britten's centenary year and has continued annually since. The children had a collection of 10 songs to learn, with support from 2 parents who led the choir sessions for practice. The songs were composed by Jonathan Dove for the event. The singing session was live streamed around the world on the Friday Afternoons website. It was a wonderful experience to be involved with a choir of 200 children and helped keep the love of music and singing alive at the School. We have since started to teach the pieces to the whole school during our Friday morning singing session.
