Scaffolding was around the School house at the start of the Spring term to repair guttering and brickwork. Since the two big 'Christmas trees' were removed in the garden the house is more visible and it is a lovely old building that has come alive since the pre-school have moved in.

The first half-term in Spring term is always very much a working term as pupils settle back into routines following the excitement of the Christmas holidays. We still found time though for exciting lessons. Naturally the one that particularly sparked the pupils' interests was the one on e-safety. We left some good tips on the front page of our website for parents and carers who may have been setting up new digital devices and wanting to make sure they are internet safe for children.

The 2nd half term was initially busy with workshops and school visits planned for different groups. These provided enrichment opportunities in Science and Computing. We were also keen to hear how our entries fared in the BBC Radio 2 500 words competition. Sadly, no significant results this year. Since joining the St Edmundsbury and Ipswich Diocesan Multi Academy Trust we have had invitations to take part in events for pupils and training for staff that have been of great benefit to the school. Through this support we are also now able to add to our library stock, purchase new phonic resources and small maths apparatus. This term with the support of our new interim Chair of Governors the LGB set out their vision for the school as a church school based around the parable of The Mustard Seed, the smallest of seeds but from which a mighty tree grew! We look with optimism to the announcement of pupil numbers for next year!
